A Tornado Does Much Damage in the South.

Great Loss of Life in Jasper and Clark Counties, Miss.

Fire Adds to the Storm's Horrors by Roasting Eleven People.

Storms Along the Great Lakes and in the Northwest-Heavy Fall of Snow in Minnesota-Damage In Chicago.

By Telegraph to The Times. MERIDIAN (Miss.,) April 20 .- [By the Associated Press. | A frightful tornado crossed Jasper and Clark counties yesterday afternoon. The cyclone origi nated in Jasper county, five miles south of here, traveling in a northeasterly direction. A settlement of negro cabins was destroyed and many unfortunates perished. Col. Berry's mag nificent plantation was swept clean, but, fortunately, none of his family were injured.

From this point to Barnett, thirty miles south, the storm was especially Dr. T. Krouse, one of the larges plantation-owners in the South, is a heavy loser. His son had his skull crushed and his wife and daughter were slightly injured. A negro on the plantation named Henry German, with his wife and nine children, was imprisoned under the ruins of his cabin. A fire originated from the kitchen stove and

SNOW IN MINNESOTA

Business Interrupted and Crops Badly Damaged. ST PAUL, April 20 .- [By the Associated Press. | Three feet of snow on the level on April 20 is most unusual in this State, but that amount of snow fell last night and today in some parts of Minnesota, the average being three feet. Heavy rain preceded the snow, which began in the northwestern part of the State on Tuesday night, extending rapidly across the country, striking this neighborhood last night and falling steadily until this afternoon, up to which time fifteen inches had fallen. After two or three hours' intermission it began again, and the air tonight was once more full of flying snow. The street railway was caught unprepared, so no cars were able to run regularly during the morning.

Minneapolis had even a worse experience. No cars were running in that city up to 4 o'clock, and at Stillwater the cars were snowed up on the street. the cars where a post the street, being caught in all parts of the city. The storm struck Daluth and the lake cities at noon and raged furiously there all the afternoon.

All over the State seeding was in progress, but the unprecedented storm will delay farm work from ten days to two weeks. Altogether the farmers are feeling rather blue over the pros pect for the wheat crop.

In the cities the storm caused almost a complete suspension of business this morning, but things picked up somewhat this afternoon. Railroads did not suffer on the morning trains, but those due this afternoon are nearly all late from one to five hours. The storm late, from one to five hours. The storm was widespread, covering almost all the entire Northwest.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

The Meeting of the Stockholders Enlivened by Lively Scenes.

n ex-Employe Makes Various Charge and Seeks the Removal of President Warner Miller-No Action Taken.

By Telegraph to The Times NEW YORK, April 20 .- By the Asso ciated Press. ! There was an exciting time at the meeting of the stockholders of the Nicaragua Canal Company today, which was caused by George C. Knight, an ex-employé of the company, who claims to represent a vast amount of English capital, and who earnestly desires the removal of Warner Miller as president of the company, and to have the project entirely reorganized. Knight declared that the money of the canal company has been wasted in useless salaries and in getting up canal conventions in various parts of the country, which merely furnished junketing expeditions for officers. According to Knight, through the operations of vot-ing the trust steek of the company, which trust had been prolonged for two years after the time it should have expired, Warner Miller illegally had him-self elected president of the company. He proposed Smith W. Weed as a successor to Miller. The former, he intimated, would be particularly acceptable to the parties, because of the peculiarly happy connections Weed had with the administration at Washington. Knight read his scheme for an entirely new ca-nal company, to be organized under both English and American charters, which would complete the canal. Weed rose at the conclusion of Knight's speech, and said he came to the meeting to protest against the use of his name in any way with the movement which Knight said that he movement which knight said that he was engineering. Turning to Knight, he said: "Your statements in reference to the company and its management are untrue." He said he protested in the name of Cleveland against the base inputation that it needed a man of the President's political faith to present the canal matter to the adthe American people would never per-mit the English government to have a joint interest in the canal. No action was taken.

By Telegraph to The Times VISALIA, April 20 .- By Associated Press. | The posse in pursuit of Evans and Sontag found no trace of the desperadoes today. A visit to the scene of last night's shooting proves that if the guard had remained where stationed by Sheriff Kay, they would have been within thirty feet of the robbers as they passed along the road. Instead of that they moved away forty yards, and shot from the guns were imbebbed in a fence between the guards and the bandits. The desperadoes have un doubtedly gone back to the mountains where they are safe from capture. At daylight this morning Eva Evans, the oldest daughter of Chris Evans, was seen traveling along the road the ban-dits toos, evidently looking to see if she could find traces of blood. No such thing is visible, It is now known that the men arrived in town before daybreak on Wednesday morning, and though there were many callers at the Evans house during the day, all deny seeing the bandits there. The informa-tion of their being in town was furnished the Sheriff by school children.

FRESNO, April 20.—Wild rumors were circulated here all day regarding Evans and Sontag, but no trustworthy information has yet been received concerning the audacious robbers. Sheriff Scott early this morning organized a posse and sent it toward the foothills. The Sheriff, accompanied by Detective Thacker and Deputy Sheriff Harry Rapaje left for Sanger, and from there it is reported they went to Visalia.

FATAL ACCIDENT. A Lower California Miner Killed by an Explosion. SAN DIEGO, April 20,-By the Associated Press. A special dispatch to the Union from Ensenada, Lower California, gives news of a serious accident at a mining camp on Saturday. Jerry Stannard and M. W. Wells, miners, were tamping in a charge of giant powder, when it exploded with terrific force, blowing Stannard, who was nearest the hole, several yards away, and inflicting in juries which are regarded fatal. Wells, who happened be a foot or two away at the ment, was thrown down, stunned and dangerously wounded. Though the camp is located forty miles from San Quintin, in a rough country, it was thought best to remove Wells.

FIRE IN IDAHO. The Town of Wardner Almost Entirely

Destroyed.
SPOKANE, April 20.—[By the Associ ated Press. | The business part of Wardner, Idaho, was destroyed by fire condition is reported tonight to be such this morning and several hundred people are homeless. The loss is estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000 and less than one-third covered by insurance. The fire started in Lawson's clothing store, between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning. The cause is not known as the flames had gained full control of the building before the fire was discovered. The alarm was given shortly before 2 o'clock, but it was too late. Before any systematic work could be done by the volunteers, the flames spread to adjoining buildings. By 2:80 the entire population was in the streets, some fighting the flames, and others rushing to save their possessions. The wind scattered the blazing cinders everywhere, and in a short time the whole gulch was a roaring sea of the whole gulch was a roaring sea of flames and the firemen could not ap-proach the buildings on account of the heat. A panic seized part of the populace, and men and women rushed about frantically in all kinds of costumes, carrying their goods to places of safety. It was evident by 3 o'clock of safety. It was evident by 3 o'clock that the entire business part of the city was doomed. The firemen still worked to prevent the fire from spreading, and by tearing down buildings and running great misk of being caught by falling, timbers, succeded in cutting off a portion of the residence part of the town. By 4 o'clock the fire was checked, but it continued to burn for hours in what had been the business section. At daylight the scene was a pitiful one. The town was a heap of ruins, with ruined men and homeless women picking their way among piles women picking their way among piles of ashes. A relief committee will be a once appointed, and a call for help sent to the surrounding towns. The estimate of from $250,000 to $300,000 includes only a partial statement of the losses of the business houses and does not include many whose losses could not be ascertained. Many merchants have moved their goods, and their losses cannot be estimated There is no place to store goods here, and the city is in great confusion. No estimate can be given of the losses on dwelling-houses or many buildings in the business district. Customs Inspector Arrested. San Francisco, April 20.-Thomas H. Douglass, a customs inspector, was caught in the act of smuggling opium ashore from the steamer China. He was placed on guard on the China and attempted to take 200 tins of opium ashore in a small boat. He was arrested, and his bail was fixed at $5000.

One Man Killed and Several Wounded in the Fight at Tracy City-The Odicers Believe the Trouble is Over.

By Telegraph to The Times. Nashville, April 20.—[By the Associated Press.] A reporter of the American has just returned from Tracy City. At 2:30 this afternoon all was quiet. Troops to the number of 125 men, under arms, entered the stockade and the miners dispersed. In the fight last night one miner was killed and five wounded, two of whom may wounded and Deputy Warden Shovers was slightly hurt. The fight began at 11 o'clock, and, after a repulse, desultory fighting was kept up all night. When the reporter left Tracy City it was believed by the officers in charge that the trouble was over, as the miners had not expected so strong a resistance. Terrible Storm on the Lake Wrecks the Cribhouse.

One Survivor Tells the Sad Story of the Catastrophe.

Fourteen Men Drowned-A Tugboat's Captain Displays Great Courage in the Rescue of One of the Victims-The Dead.

By Telegraph to The Times MILWAUKEE, April 20.—[By the Associated Press.] The dreadful storm last night carried away the house built on top of the crib at the mouth of the tunnel about three-quarters of a mile from the pumping works at the foot of North street, and fourteen men were drowned The shore of the lake was strewn with timber, boards, tools and articles of clothing worn by the men in the ill-fated crib. The catastrophe is supposed to have occurred about 5 o'clock this morning. At daybreak the men at the pumping station were notified that the house on the crib had disappeared. The news was soon known to the public, and it was an anxious crowd that stood on the shore and looked seaward this morning. Some of the spectators were relatives of the men who were in peril and pathetic scenes were wit-WAVES PIFTEEN FEET HIGH.

The sea was the most awful one any oody in the vicinity has ever seen. The waves were fully fifteen feet high, and they dashed over the crib with terrific force. All that was left on the crib was a couple of posts that supported the house and one of the pumps. Two large boilers, an engine, one of two pumps, the air compressor plant and 20,000 brick that were on the crib has been washed away.

Shortly after 9 o'clock one of the spectators who was looking at the crib exclaimed: "I can see a man." The others strained their eyes, and, sure enough, they could see the figure of a man moving cantiously about on the crib. It was only by clinging to the few remaining timbers that he saved himself from being washed off by the waves. The men waved their handkerchiefs to let the man know he had been seen, and those looking through glasses could see THE MAN ON THE CRIB answer the signal by waving one of his hands, while with the other he clung to the pump for his life.

From her station in the lighthouse at North Point, Mrs. G. S. Stebbins witnessed the destruction of the cribabout 5:30 o'clock, and that the waves came with great frequency and awful force. Just before the house disap-peared, Mrs. Stebbins saw several boards from the side of the building torn loose. The opening thus made seemed to give the angry wind the op-portunity it sought, and with one mighty effort the entire house was lifted in the air and a second later the CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

INTO THE RAGING SEA. The tug Welcome was dispatched to the scene, and on account of the fright ful sea, she took a life-boat with a crew of five in tow, to battle against the angry waves. They were watched by thousands of people on shore, whom re-ports of the accident had drawn thither. When Capt. Peterson, after almost superhuman efforts, succeeded almost superhuman efforts, succeeded in reaching the crib by means of a rope and with a life-preserver around his body, he met a horrible sight. One man, James Miller, was still alive and clinging to a post. About him were the corpses of two or three of his comrades. Miller was rescued and conveyed to the emergency hospital, where he gave the following.

Nine men, who were not strong enough to get out, were drowned by the water coming into the shaft, and four out of the five who got out were mangled or drowned by the tremendous floods that dashed over the crib. At what hour the house was washed away I do not know. It had disappeared when we got out of the shaft."

GOLD RESERVE.

Secretary Carlisle Reviews the Financial Situation.

Treasury Notes to Be Cashed in Gold as Long as Possible.

The Government Will Preserve Its Credit Unimpaired.

The Amount of Free Gold in the Trea ury-Yesterday's Exportation There is Plenty of Gold in the Country.

Bu Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, April 20 .- [By the Asciated Press. | Secretary Carlisle to-day made the following statement regarding the financial situation:

In the exercise of the discreti one conferred upon the Secretary of the Treasury by the act of July 14, 1890, he has been paying out gold for coin treasury notes issued for the purchase of silver bullion, and he will continue to do so as long as he has gold legally available for the purpose. Under this process the Government has been, and now is, paying out gold for silver bullion, and storing the silver in the vaults, where it is as useless for any purpose of circulation or redemption as iron, lead or any other commodity. The Government, in the first place, issues a coin treasury note in paying for silver bullion, and then the coin treasury and gold is praid out for it, so the effect is precisely the same as if gold was paid directly for silver in the first instance About $800,000 of the amount that was withdrawn from the sub-treasury last Tuesday for shipment abroad was paid out on these coin treasury notes.

No order has been made to stop the pay-No order has been made to stop the payment of gold upon these notes, nor is any pne authorized to say that such an order will be issued. The purpose of the Government to preserve its own credit, unimpaired, and maintain the parity of the two metals by all lawful means, will not be abandoned under any circumstances. In view of the existing legislation, the only question for consideration is as to the measure that ought to be adopted to insure the accomplishment of these purposes, and upon this question there, of course, is room for wide differences of opinion.

The total stock of gold coin and gold builion now in the country, including what is held by the treasury, as well as what is held by banks and individuals, amounts to about $740,000.000. When I came into the Treasury Department, on the 7th day of Treasury Department, on the 7th day of March, the amount of free gold on hand had been reduced to $987,000, but by an arrangement with Western banks this has een increased until on April 1 it amounted to nearly $8,000,000. At that time heavy shipments began to be made, and two days ago we had only about $40,000, but now it amounts to $885,000, after deducting what has been withdrawn from the subtreasury today for shipment. Arrangements are now in progress by which more gold is to be procured from the West, and I hope a sufficient quantity will be secured to keep the gold reserve intact.

There is gold enough in the country to meet all the requirements of the situation, and if all who are really interested in maintaining a sound and stable currency would assist the Secretary of the Treasury to the extent of their abilities, the existing difficulties would soon be removed, In addition to this statement, Secreto nearly $8,000,000. At that time heavy

In addition to this statement, Secre-rry Carlisle said that $800,000 in gold was taken out of the sub-treasury in, New York today for export. The class of money paid into the sub-treasury for the gold withdrawal included $400,000 in gold certificates, which to that amount did not reduce the gold reserve, because they themselves are practically gold. So the actual gold reduction today was only $400,000, leaving a balance as stated above. This is the first considerable amount of gold certificates that have been paid into the sub-treasury for gold export for many years, and encourages the treasury officials to hope that the banks, seeing the situation, will continue to present gold certificates in payment at least for the gold withdrawn for ex-

STRIKERS IN COURT.

A Temporary Injunction Against the Santa Fe Mechanics.

Probable Settlement of the Union Pacifi Trouble—The Grievance Commit-tee and the President Have a Conference.

By Telegraph to The Times Topeka, April 20 .- [By the Asso clated Press.] At 10 o'clock last night Judge Hazen, of the District Court, granted, upon the application of the Atchson, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway Company, a temporary injunction re-straining the striking shopmen from interfering in the operation of the road or with the men who are at work in the shops. The hearing of the case has been set for May 1.

The company decided to take this action vesterday afternoon, when seven cooks, who were carrying meals to the shop hands, were set upon by the strikers, who prevented them from taking the food into the shops. This incident and the fear that the additional force of new men whom the company expected to put on today might lead to a more serious collision caused the com pany to appeal to the courts for pro

The Sheriff and twenty-nine deputies served notice of the injunction on the strikers this afternoon.

A few men went to work in the shops this morning. The strikers say they were employed under a misrepresenta-tion as regards wages. The strik-ers also say that when the new men learned that they were coming to take the places of strikers, twenty deserted the train at Indianapolis, and that ten more refused to go to work this morning. Forty-three men got off the train last night.

KANSAS CITY, April 20.—The situation of the strike on the Santa Fé at Argentine presents no startling features this morning. The company has withdrawn many of its watchmen, and everything is quiet. It was learned this morning that the company had come to an understanding with the engineers, firemen and switchmen, which obviates the necessity of a strike on their part. The grievance of the brotherhood shopmen is still pending, but the brotherhood has decided not to strike today. The diffi-culty will be held in abeyance for the present in this case.

Probable Settlement of the Strike-The OMAHA (Neb.,) April 20.—|By the Associated Press.] Unless all indications fail the strike now in force on the ury Department. fail the strike now in force on the Washington, April 20.—[Special.] Uniou Pacific system will be ended within the next twenty-four hours if conservative sentiment can bring about such a settlement as will leave the men in a position to resume work and still give them some of the rights they have demanded. Twentyfive apprentices quit work at noon today, but otherwise there is no change in the situation. A meet-ing was held this afternoon between the strikers' executive committee and President Clark, but the result has been kept a secret. It looks as if the railroad company would recede from its position. DENVER, April 20.—Assistant Super-intendent Mertzheimer of the motive power department of the Union Pacific informed a representative of the Asso ciated Press this morning that at 10 o'clock this morning 1200 men had gone out on the strike out of a total number employed in his department of over 10,000. He insists that the work is not interfered with, and that new men are easily found to take the places of the strikers. The condition of the strike at this point remains the same as on yesterday.

Kansas City, April 20.—The officials of the Union Pacific road say the strike on their system is causing very little trouble. The road is not crippled in the least, they say, by locomotives being disabled, for they are all in good repair. The strikers, on the other hand, say that in spite of the statements made by the company to the contrary, the road is company to the contrary, the road is suffering from a scarcity of locomotives

Evanston (Wyo.,) April 20.—At a mass-meeting of the Evanston shopmen tonight it was unanimously agreed to join the strike of the International Machinists' Association on the Union Pacific system.

Marriage will be not so much a contract of flesh legalized for a fee as a union of soul sanctified by an approving conscience. The tendency toward the accumulation of great wealth in the hands of a few will de great wealth in the hands of a few will de crease in the next century, for the quick-ened conscience and aroused conceptions of justice of an intelligent people will class that man with criminals who holds more of the world's gifts than he can possibly use while his fellow beings want. The bounties of God shall not be fettered by the dead but the earth and the full ness thereof dead, but the earth and the fullness there shall belong in usufruct to the living Great corporations and business combines, which constitute the power of plutocracy. suall be controlled and dominated by naalism-the creature shall not be great than its creator. With a government "of for and by the people," in fact as well a tradition, the condition of the laborin classes will be one of comfort and indepen ence. Three hours will constitute a lon; day's work and liberally furnish infinitel, more of the benefits of civilization and the comforts of life than sixteen hours' slavish toil will provide today. Opportunity will thus be given to improve and develop thos God given faculties and aspirations that li-dormant in every human soul. Books and nusic, athletic games and mental and physical culture will occupy the time and thoughts of a healthy, happy, godlike people who will send out thought message from soul to soul, from place to place, as an arrow flies from the bow of the archer.

Agriculture will be developed by electricity, the motive power of the future. Science will take in condensed form from the rich learn of earth the life force or germs now found in the heart of the corn the kernel of the wheat, the luscious juice the series of the wheat the luscious juice the series of the wheat the luscious juice. of the fruits. A small phial of this life from the fertile bosom of mother earth will fur nish man with subsistence for days, and thus the problems of cooks and cooking will be solved. The slaughter of animals the appetite for flesh meat that has left the world reeking with blood and bestialize humanity, will be one of the shuddering horrors of the past. Slaughter houses, butcher shops and cattle pens will be con-verted into conservatorics and beds o-bloom. Man and beast will hold life sacred, and the vegetarians of the next cen tury will exclaim with Goldsmith:

No flocks that range the valleys free, To slaughter I condemn;
Taught by that power that pities me,
I learn to pity them.

The dress of the future will offer no resistance to or compression of action. Bathing ever in the infinite ocean of good the "house beautiful" will not be prematurely decayed by sickness, distorted by pain of racked by fashion's tortures. Vulgarit; will not conceal or expose. "To the pure will not conceal or expese. "To the pure all things will be pure." The practice of the maxim "Know thyself" will make the body honored and resplendent-"the temple of the Holy Ghost." The race will be mentally and physically healthier, happier and handsomer because the mothers of the race, no longer dependent upon man, will be freed from his bestiality, while man's animality will decrease in proportion to the increase of mentality. Woman shall have the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the shall wenter the sole right to say when the same than the sole right to say when she shall wen the crown of motherhood, and our jails and almshouses, streets and alleys shall no longer swarm with the spawn of degraded

The center of population has moved westward 500 miles in the past century, and, judging the future by the past, the greatest city will be located on our boundless, western prairies, where the almondeyed Mongolian from the orient will meet in the tide of humanity pouring westward the Aryan brother from whom he separated on the plains of Asia 6,000 years ago.

and the dwellers on its banks will tell with bated breath of the cataclysm that engulfed the documed city and rolled the waters upon its sir and pride.

The American now living who will be the most honored in 1903 will be that man who is today endeavoring to exemplify in his life and teachings the spirit and doctrine of Jesus Christ, who is lifting from the rubbish of the temple the book of books, and leaving nothing undone to bring about that time of which Isaiah sung and the prophets have so long foretold. Unhonored by wealth or station, though not unknown, he lives today for his fellow men, beloved by all who meet him. The ripest years of his white manhood he has been writing justice on the nation's page, and writing justice on the nation's page, and this shall be his sure rewerd, for "With what measure you mete unto others, it shall be meted unto you."

Cities of the Next Century. [From Our New York Correspondent.] Colonel Albert D. Shaw, who, when United States consul to Menchester, gained a wide repute, speaking of the development of cities in the next century, said: One of the greatest cities in the United States will be found to occupy the area be-tween Buffalo and Ningara falls. I think that early in the century there will be a city of 1,000,000 inhabitants there. It will be one of the greatest manufacturing cities in the world. It will include practically the city of Duffalo as well as the towns upon the borders of the Nisgara river.

This great city is to be developed through the capturing of the power of Nisgara falls, which even today is practically consummated, and which from the time of the discovery of this country has gone to waste. This water power is to be mainly utilized in the development of electricity, and both the Canadian and the American falls are to be made to serve this purpose.

A power will be developed there sufficient not only to run all the engines necesary to turn the wheels in as many factories as can be located in this area, but also sufficient to furnish the city of Buffalo with light and with electricity for domestic us and, I am inclined to think, may even p vide power and light for cities as far aw as New York and Philadelphia on the east and Cleveland and Cincinnati and Toledo on the west. The capacity is practically on the west. The capacity is practically limitless.

Even with the great plants now established on the American side and with those contemplated on the Canadian side only a comparatively small portion of this enormous power is utilized. It has the advantage of being not only cheap, but permanent. No drought will over affect the Niagara falls, and the cost of furnishing power will not be dependent upon the operations of not be dependent upon the operation capitalists who control the coal fields capitalists who control the coal fields.

Already there are indications of the growth of this city. Manufacturers from all parts of the United States are securing rights there, and even before the close of this century we shall see a considerable city established there. Early in the next century I look to see a continuous manufacturing city extending from the Niagara river to what are now the outskirts of the city of Buffalo.

ity of Buffalo.

Nature has done everything to favor this locality, and at last science and capital are taking advantage of these natural temptalocality, and at his section at the taking advantage of these natural temptations. My own opinion is that during the next century this will become the greatest manufacturing center in the world, and men now in the prime of life will see enough. I think, to justify me in this pre-

Junius Henri Browne's Prediction. I am and have always been a great be-liever in America and everything American. The form of government is ideal, and will no doubt meet the requirements of its citizens for generations if not for ages to come.

The social and political condition of the country in 1998 will be, in my opinion, a marked improvement on what it is now. marked improvement on what it is now.
It will tend more and more to humanity, reason, freedom and independence of the individual. Socialism, which is in the air, will steadily grow here in a modified and rationalized form. There will be more equality in education, position and fortune.

The republic will be more than ever The republic will be more than ordered democratized. The government will be simpler. The railroads and telegraphs will in all probability be owned by the state and managed excellently-better than they have been at my previous time.

Legislation on the subject of temperance will be more enlightened. There will be no attempt to enforce total abstinence, but attempt to enforce total abstinence, but there will be less drinking and far fewer rumshops. Those that are permitted will be obliged to pay very high license and will be the oughly regulated by law. Crizeinals will be less severely punished and their number will have materially diminished. General education will have greatly lessened crime.

The divorce laws will be the same in all the states. Divorce will be freer gene than at present, but allowed for only a few moral causes—among them nonsupport, disloyalty, crime, intemperance and tem-peramental incompatibility.

Wealth will be more widely and equally distributed, and great corporations and busi-distributed, and great corporations and business interests will be conducted harmoniously—on the principle of the employees and workers sharing in the profits. The and workers sharing in the proints. The conflict between labor and capital will be largely settled in this way, aided by cooperation. As a necessary result the laboring classes will be much less dependent.

Food will be provided in the next century at a low cost and without difficulty for our entire population. Seasones to devance the prices of the necessities of life will have become so discouraged by public opinion as to be no longer practicable.

Law will be simplified. Lawyers will have diminished, and their fees will have the provided.

been vastly curtailed. The principles of medicine will be more generally and intel-ligently understood. There will be much more dependence on nature than on drugs or physicians, who will have decreased. Theology, as such, will be little taught or physicians, who will have decreased.

Theology, as such, will be little taught and will have almost no influence. Authority will have no weight, and faith, as respects dogma, will be without esteem. The doctrine, then, will be deed, not creed. The churches, outside of the Roman Catholic, will coalesce—will be as one. They will preson morality only and inculcate charity. American literature will stand at the head of English literature. The drama will be its best and most accepted form.

The social and political status of womer will be on a par with that of men. They will enjoy the elective franchise.

The servant problem will have adjusted taself to, the needs of the community, and will have ceased to be an injustice and a torment to householders.

The race will be handsomer, healthier ment to householders.

The race will be handsomer, healthier and more contented—through increased education, knowledge of science and human

JUNIUS HENRI BROWNE. The Development of the South The Development of the Correspondent.]

Mr. Samuel Barton, who is a nephew of commodore Vanderbilt and the broker who executed many of his lers when Jay Gould and the creator of the Vanderbilt fortunes were engaged in a contest for the possession of the Erie railroad, in speaking of the development of the United States in the next century, said:

It is my opinion that there is to be a yonderful development of the resources of the state of Florida in the next century. Our people do not understand what a magnificent territory that is. It will become not only the great sanitarium for the invalids of the east, but my impression is will be a rival with Nice and other Mediternanean districts for those who seek pleasure and comfort in winter travel. Already some of the capitalists who have been attracted to that country are developing it by meens of railways.

Before the beginning of the next century a railroad will skirt the Atlantic shore almost as far down as the Florida keys.
This great subtropical territory will be as thoroughly crisscrossed by railways as are some of the states of the north. I think our pleasure seekers will discover that the lower part of Florida has as many temptations in the winter season as have any of tions in the winter season as have any of the winter resorts of Europe, and I look to see the islands in the Caribbean sea the re-sort of those who seek fashionable pleas-ures, for there they will find much greater natural beauties than are to be enjoyed on the shores of the Mediterranean, and there is none of those distressing mistrals which sometimes make life miserable at these Mediterranean resorts.

I doubt whether the lower part of Florida will ever be drained so as to make that section available for agriculture, although almost anything is going to be possible in the next century. Completely to drain that would require the building of a ditch as deep and broad as the Mississippi river.

Farther north, however, I think we sha' find early in the next century the great sugar belt there completely under cultivation, and it is capable of producing millions of pounds of sugar.

Transportation facilities will be so increased that the orange district, especially upon the east coast, will practically furnish the United States all the oranges the market which was a superstant of the coarse of the ket requires. Pines and cocoanuts will be grown in southern Florida to such an extent as to commend the markets of this country, and I think I am not making a wild prediction when I say that in the next century the value of Florida to the United States will be of more commercial impor-tance than are some of the states in which even bonanza mines have been discovered.

The doctors hold out but very little hope of his recovery.

Theosophica Lecture

Some two or three hundred people gathered at Unity Church last night to listen to Dr. Allen Griffiths, Pacific Coast theosophical lecturer. This is not his first visit to Los Angeles, as he visited the city about a year ago and delivered several lectures at that time in St. Vincent's Hall. He intends to give three lectures here, and last night's was the first of the series, his being "Theosophy, Adepts and INTERNATIONAL NAVAL PARADE.

Special Announcement for Sunday, April 23. THE TIMES has secured for publication on the Sunday before the great International Naval Parade of April 27, in which thirtyseven foreign ships of war will participate, an article of about four thousand words by J. O. DAVIDSON, the highest authority or naval history and drawings in the country. His work has appeared hitherto only in the Century. Harper's and other periodicals. He will draw a half-page illustration, show ing pictorially, in the most graphic manner, the naval history of the world from the time of the Roman galleys down to the modern battle-ships. The illustrations will portray the most famous American frigates of olden times as they were in action, and will be absolutely accurate, his torically, as well as pictorially effective. The article accompanying the illustrations will succinctly review the naval history of the world, the great battles won by United States naval ships, and will tell many stir. ring anecdotes of American naval heroes

The article will make about a page of THE TIMES, with the illustrations, of which there will be about twenty-five single and double column cuts.

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

LOS ANGELES THEATER-The Nabobs. PARK THEATER-A Celebrated Case.

THE record of disaster is continued in reports of a terrific storm on the lakes and great loss of life at Milwankee, while tornadoes are making paths of destruction through Alabama and Mis-The mischief maker of the elements seems to be doing his worst.

WHILE the United States and Great Britain are disputing over the catching of seals in Bering Sea, three Dundee whating ships have sailed into Antartic waters and captured 60,000 seals there. This profitable catch will probably attract the predatory craft toward. the South Pole hereafter, relieving the northern situation of some of its embarrassments.

A Washington special says that so far California has averaged about one postoffice appointment per day, while the State of Indiana is receiving twenty five or thirty appointments a day. In a certain sense that is pretty hard on Indiana, and there should be no kick coming from the Republican office-holders of California. President Cleveland and Postmaster-General Bissell have evidently determined to make the Democrats of this State spell harmony with a big H before they turn the headsman loose on California officials.

According to a recent financial circular, the campaign against trusts is beginning to make itself felt in Wall street in a depressed and "flighty" condition of the securities of so-called "industrials." Consolidated whisky, con sonsolidated beef and consolidated everything else are becoming nervous. The circular says: "A cloud is cast upor their future by the growing hostility of public opinion to every form of monop oly, and the prospect that the law wil be enforced against combinations much more vigorously than it has been. These exceptionally-situated stocks afford material for 'bear' raids and keep the market subject to surprises and reactions." In other words, the monopolists are beginning to experience "a revelation of the day of judgment.'

The "important verification of a farreaching theory" which Prof. Schaeberle, of the Lick Observatory, has secured in his photographs of the recen solar eclipse, taken in South America. seems to be, in part, that the sun has an atmosphere. Another mooted point which his observations will help to determine is that he failed to find any in dications of the so-called planet Vulcan. The opinion that there is no intermercurial planet is confirmed, at least, in a negative way. Astronomers have long been searching for such a planet to account for certain perturba tions in the orbital movements of Mer cury. They were following in this the ame line of investigation which led to the discovery of Neptune, the outermost member of our system. M. Lescarbault, a French physician and amateur astronomer, claimed that he caught sight of Vulcan in transit cross the face of the sun March 26 1850, and his observation was confirmed in a somewhat irregular way by wo or three observers in this country. It was believed by those who had faith in Vulcan that he must be a planet of immense size, revolving about the ann once in twenty-three or forty-six days, and so close as to be entirely ob- LL.B. in 1877. After another seaso ed by the brilliancy of the sun The fallure to secure a well-authentied observation of this supposed near hor of the sun in all the subsent years of search, has resulted in a verdict of "not proven." Still. t is a fair inference that Vulcan will searched for as long as there are asmers to do any searching.

It Attacks the Pipes

Ever since the electric railroad went into operation in this city, the water company has experienced trouble with its pipes where they happened to come beneath the track or close to it. have in THE TIMES office samples of iron and lead pipe which were recently removed from Wolfskill avenue, near the electric power-house. The iron pipe was about six feet from the track, and the lead, which formed a connection between the main and a service pipe was about fifteen feet from the track. Both had been in the ground only about five months, yet they are corroded and oxidized their entire length and are tull of holes. The engineer of the water company states that during wer weather the pipes seem to be attacked much more vigorously than during the dry season.

There is no doubt that this destruction of the pipes is due to electric action. Either the wires beneath the track which bring the return current to the power-house fail to carry it all, and a portion of the flow passes into the earth and thence into the pipes, or the natural earth currents are set in motion by induction and thus accomplish the mischief. The oxidation of the iron is an electrolytic process which is helped along by the presence o moisture in the earth, and hence the greater injury during wet weather. It is found that the brass connections on the lead pipe are attacked in the same way, and the brass is eaten off exactly as we find a copper slug eaten in an electric battery.

This becomes a very interesting ques tion, and a very practical one also, in asmuch as the same difficulty must be experienced all over the country wher ever there are electric railroads and water and gas systems traversing the same streets. In talking with an expert electrician on the subject the other day he suggested that the difficulty might be obviated by making a direct wire connection between the pipes and the return current to the power-house. He thought that if a metal conductor were supplied, the current, instead of break ing into the pipes, so to speak, and breaking out again, would simply run along them and make an easy exit by the conductor and very little electrolytic action would result. The experiment is worth trying. The water com pany, after relaying one section of pipe four or five times, adopted the expedient of laving it in a box of saw-dust This would undoubtedly act as an insulation as long as the sawdust remains dry. But when it becomes soaked it will be about as good a conductor as the earth. A thorough insulation of the pipe with hard rubber would probably be better. The general introduction of electricity for industrial purposes leads to many interesting problems like that above stated, and their solution is to be found only by careful experimentation. ASSEMBLYMAN FRANK G. FINLAYSON, who, as a courtesy to Senator Carpentook charge of Senate Bill No. 698 in the lower house, furnishes a legal opinion as to the status of that bill, which appears elsewhere in THE Times today. Mr. Finlayson holds to the opinion that the courts can and will their investigation, and, if they find or go behind the enrollment of the bill in an examination of the journal of the Assembly that it failed to receive the votes of a majority of the members, they will decide that it has not become a law. This seems to be a common sense view of the matter, as THE TIMES has already urged, and law is some times called "crystallized common sense." Mr. Finlayson cites a provision of the Constitution which says that "on the final passage of all bills . . the vote shall be by year and nays upon each bill separately, and shall be entered in the journal, and no bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to each house." Mr. Finlayson thinks that under the old Consti tution the courts could not have gone behind the record of the bill, as certified and deposited with the Secretary of but under the present Constitu-State; tion, and with the precedent of cases cited, they will certainly go to the bot tom of the matter. This would inevitably throw out the bogus act. .. PROF. E. T. PIERCE, who has been elected principal of the State Normal School in this city (to succeed Prof. Ira More, resigned,) is an aforetime Southern Californian, and he will no doubt return to the field of his former labors with much satisfaction. Prof. Pierce is recognized as one of the most thorough educators in the State. He graduated from the Albany (N. Y.) State Normal School twenty-one years ago, in the same class with Supreme Judge Paterson of this State. He was a suc essful principal of schools in New York and New Jersey for several years, and then took a course in Union University. from which he received the degree of of teaching in New York his health failed and he sought a rural life in Southern California, being one of the early settlers at Sierra Madre, where he improved a fruit farm and regained his health. He then returned to his chosen profession, and had charge of the Pasadena schools during their buildings were constructed. In 1889 ne was elected to the principalship of he State Normal School at Chico. where he has remained to the present time. He was clected principal of the Los Angeles normal by unanimous vote of the trustees, and without any formal application on his part. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have a great many friends in Southern California who will welcome their return.

AND so that brilliant young Democratic light, dispenser of patronage and advisor to the President, John H. Sexton, turns out to be a felon who robbed the Los Angeles mails, confessed the crime and served two years therefor in the penitentiary. Here is more demoralization on the part of the California delegation, for they were humbugged into indorsing Sexton. The President will be wrathy with them for helping a jail-bird to secure the entree of the White House, and the mischief will be to pay generally. It's lucky that Sexton did not secure the important appointment which, it seems, was almost within his grasp. Our Democratic brethren should be allowed sufficient time to recover from their embarrassment, but it is to be feared that their confidence in human nature has received a shock from which they will from a charge of dishonesty by pleading gross carelessness never helps himself very much in public estimation. The world has as great a contempt for a fool as for a knave, and when the implication is open that the fool may be also knave and the knave may be also a fool that simply amounts to a double damnation. These philosophical observations are elicited by a little discussion that has lately been going on with respect to a bogus bill which was foisted upor the Governor through the most unspeak able carelessness or the most astound ing dishonesty. Either one of these hypotheses that may be accepted leaves the other a possibility also. Senator Carpenter selects unspeakable careless ness as his horn of the dilemma. Now he stands convicted of one charge and suspected of the other.

Evans and Sontag have written one nore chapter in their charmed record of outlawry, but there is no probability that the story will be continued to any great length. They are very sure to die with their boots on before long.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES Los Angeles THEATER. Henshaw and Ten Brocck opened in he Nabobs to a fairly well filled house last night, and, if encores, laughter and all that are evi dences of appreciation and enjoyment. then the audience got twice the worth of its money, as many of the performers were recalled again and again. Like most farce-comedies, so called, The Mabobs, as a called, The criticism, but it is full of clever speciicism, but it is full of clever specialties, and goes with snap and vin from the very outset until the curtain goes down on the last act. John E. Henshaw is a witty and clever comedin, a graceful dancer, and makes the most of his rôle of "Wood B. Good." George E. Mack, in excruciatingly funny make-ups, is very droll. John Brighter, does a bit of pantomine. "How a lady gets ready for the opera," excellently. Dorothy Gray has a beaujiful contrailty role, and sang a solo which was rapturously applauded, and Carrie Ezler, "de tough girl." does a turn at darkey singing which includes a hand-spring that brings down the house. The Nabobs serves to while away an evening without strain on while away an evening without strain on the intellect, and while it might be bet-

Of the Beasey children who appear at Furnverein Hall tonight and tomorrow afternoon and evening, an exchange says "The Beasey children appeared at the rahouse last evening in concert, and se who attended enjoyed one of the rarest treats of the season. These children, the oldest of whom is 12 years of age and the youngest only 6, are, without question phenomenal musicians. Each evidences ability of the highest order, proportioned in degree to the age of the performer, and their performance last evening met with enthusiastic appreciation from the audience. If they appear here again they will be greeted with a crowded house.

Have you seen her in the morning, Opening wide her dewy eyes. Seeming not an earth-born maiden, But a queen from Paradise. All the birds about her singing. With a glad excess of thril And the very earth forgetting In her presence, sense of ill?

Have you seen her at the noontide, Tripping through the orchards, where Fruits and blossoms she is growing—Blossoms brides are proud to wear—
Fruits whose jutcy spheres she presses
To her red lips, giad to know
God has given to her keeping
All the sweetest things that grow?

THE ALUMINUM AGE.

Clays Containing Aluminum—Bauxite
The Stuff for dailonning.

Specially Contributed to The Times. We are now passing through what might be termed the age of steel, but there is every indication that we are about to inaugurate what will be termed later the age of aluminum. Even electricity, that is, the application of electric force, will be modified, in many cases simplified, and in nearly all cases aided by the advent of this useful metal, which has long been known, been highly praised and much abused, and at all times too hard to get.

While it is true that nearly all clays-and think of the bundance of common clay!-contain aluminum, it is only a few kinds that contain it in a sufficiently high percentage to pay for extracting the metal with our present crude and costly processes. It is only in bauxite —a dark brown clay first found at or near the village of Baux, in France, and hence named, bauxite—that aluminum is found in high percentages, and here-tofore bauxite has been rather tofore bauxite has been rather scarce. Recently bowever, enormous deposits of very rich bauxite have been deposits of very rich bauxite have been discovered in Alabama and Georgia, extending over some thirty miles square of territory, and practically inexhaustible. This deposit had for years bee, looked upon as soft iron ore of too low a grade to be utilized. But when representatives of the United States Geological Survey sent specimens of Geological Survey sent specimens of the deposit to the analytical depart-ment of the Smithsonian Institution it proved to be bauxite, assaying from 46 to 50 per cent. of pure aluminum. Subsequent investigation proved the vast extent of the deposit, and lands that were supposed to be worthless have suddenly acquired great value in the eyes of the present owners. Indeed, such a discovery in itself is worth mill-ions. It will at least stimulate the ions. It will at least stimulate the production of aluminum and aluminum alloys as at present made. It will cause new plants for extraction of the rangements are already nearly completed for the construction of an extensive plant near the beds, when aluminum will be produced by the electric process. It will also stimulate inventive genius to discover new processes that shall ere long make the claim of the chemist that he can produce aliminum at 5 cents a pound a realized commercial fact. all events such rich and bountifdli de posits as lie there in Alabama, con venient of access and easily mined, will soon lower the cost of the white metal. That desideratum once reached metal. That desideratum once reached mankind will not be long in finding multiplied uses for it. At present its use, so far as the public is acquainted with it, is in ornaments, in alloys, in making cartridge snells, buckles, etc., or as decorations in the houses of the rich. A Pennsylvana factory is just now at work filling a large contract from the German government for aluminum cartridge shells, helmets, belts and a number of other equipments for and a number of other equipments for the German army. And this is but a beginning of its practical uses. As soon as it can be obained a little cheaper, every roofer in he United States will be eager to obtain aluminum roofing, shingles, etc.

The makers of sheet metal ornaments would also acquire a remarkable af-fection for it, because it is so strong, so light of weight, and can be so readily worked into shapes, that will present a perfection at present wholly inattainable in sheet metal. Domes and cornices of aluminum would not only be stronger and handsomer and better in every way than those of tin or copper or slate or brick or stone or any of the material now in general use, but they would answer the objection of adding serious weight at the top of high buildings without sacrificing strength or ornament or classic de-tails or denying an owner's special de-sires, as the case might be. Aluminum floors have been proven superior to all others for dancing, why not also for all other floors when combined with proper reliefs and settings? In a thousand other ways would aluminum-the rust less metal—enter into general trade. No other metal would be nearly as serviceable or as desirable for use on vessels, for plates, cups or cooking utensils. In fact in cookery it will doubtless soon displace tin to a large extent. It is the one thing that will make aerial navigation, as a means of practical transport, a possibility. Given cheap aluminum and the bright. light, non-corrosive, easily worked and durable metal will gradually find its way into almost every industry of man.

Fate's Frustrated Joan Fate's Frustrated Jose
Once fate, with an ironic zest,
Made man—a most delicious jest.
"From out the vold I man evoke."
Said Fate, "my best and latest joke!
I stand him on two slender props,
Two pins on which the creature hops.
I'll watch the unbalanced, awky sprawl,
Frong after prong behold him crawl;
And when a strong wind from the east
Blows on this perpendicular beast
I'll laugh to see him toppie c'er,
And all the gazing gods shall roar!

And all the gazing gods shall roar?

"This mite shall feed the lion's maw
And dangle on the tiger's paw;
Shall be the sportive panther's prey.
And flee from dragons night and day.
This featherless bird of awkward mold Shall chatter through the winter's cold;
No hair or wool to him I give,
No turtle-shell in which to live;
Nor can he, like the bear." said Fate,
"Dig holes in which to hibernate."
Out in the universe I fling
This naked, helpless, shivering thing;
Of all my jokes this is the best,
This masterpiece of jest."

But Fate in mixing man his brains Forgot to take the usual pains.
Dropped in, and made a tearful muss,
An extra scoop of phosphorus;
Then man he slyll said: "You wait.
And I will get the joke on Fate."
He did not feed the lion's maw,
Or dangle on the tiger's paw.
But cut the lion into steak,
And used his skin a coat to make.
The whirlwind from the east might blow,
But still it could not overthrow
This feathered biped, for 'tis plain Tait extra phosphorus in his brain
Was just enough upon each limb
To hold him up and balance him,
And so through all the years that come But Fate in mixing man his brains And so through all the years that come He keeps his equilibrium.

SENATE BILL 693.

It Will Not Be Sustained by the Supreme Court.

An Exhaustive Opinion by Assomblyman Frank G. Finlayson.

It is the Province of the Court to Go Behind the Returns.

Fully Covers Just Such Contingencles-The Measure is Not a Law.

In reference to Senate Bill 693. about which so much has been said and written, the following legal opinion has been prepared at the request of THE TIMES by Hon. Frank G. Finlayson. Mr. Finlayson's connection with the bill. out of courtesy to Senator Carpenter, its author, and its adverse fate in the Assembly are facts now well-substantiated. Partly for this reason, but more on account of his reputation as a lawyer and legislative authority, this con-tribution by Mr. Fin!ayson will be read with more than usual interest at the present time.

MR. FINLATSON'S OPINION. To the question, "Can the courts go behind the enrollment of Senate Bill No. 693, as the same has been enrolled. authenticated and deposited with the Secretary of State, so as to show and to hold that it never, in fact, became ; law?" I answer, yes, in my opinion they can. Some of the newspapers seem to think otherwise, but I think a careful examination of the authorities will show that under our present Constitu-tion the courts can and will look to the journals of both houses, that is, of the Senate and Assembly, and if it affirmatively appear on the face of the jour-nal of either house that the bill did not receive the votes of a majority of the members elected to each house, the courts will declare that it never be came a law, notwithstanding it may have been enrolled, signed by the Gov ernor and deposited with the Secretary of State.

The regular course of proceeding in the enactment of laws is as follows: A bill is introduced in either house and read twice. After all the amendments read twice. After all the amendments proposed to a bill, if any, have been acted upon, the bill is engrossed as amended, if any of the proposed amendents are adopted. After engrossment it is put upon its final passage. After it has passed both houses it is enrolled by the enrolling clerk of the rolled by the enrolling clerk of the house in which it first passed. After enrollment it is sent to the Committee on Enrollment of that house, and, upon their report that it is correctly enrolled, the bill thus enrolled has endorsed upon it the dates of its separate passages through both houses, certified by the secretary of the Senate and the clerk of the Assembly. It is then signed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, approved by the Governor and deposited with the Secretary of State, whose duty it is to retain the "custody of and carefully pre serve . . the manuscript containing the enrolled acts and joint resolutions . . of the Legislature."

Under the old Constitution there was no provision requiring the yeas and nays to be taken on the final passage of a vill, and no provision requiring yeas and nays on final passage to be en-tered in the journal. Whereas, under tered in the journal. Whereas, under the present Constitution it is provided by a mandatory provision that "on the the final passage of all bills'. the vote shall be by yeas and nays upon each bill separately, and shall be en tered in the journal, and no bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected Under the old Constitution it was held that "an act of the Legislature, properly enrolled, authenticated, and deposited with the Secretary of State, is a record of the act, and is conclusive evidence of its passage, and conclusive evidence that the act was passed as enrolled." It was held that "neither the journals of the Legislature, nor the bill as originally evidence of its passage, and conclusive evidence that the act was passed as enrolled." It was held that "neither the journals of the Legislature, nor the bill as originally introduced, nor the amendments attached to it, nor parole evidence can be received in order to show that an act of the Legislature, properly enrolled, authenticated and deposited with the Secretary of State, either did not become a law as enrolled."

other words, if, prior to the adoption were raised in a court of law a certain act appearing on the statute books receive the necessary number of votes to entitle it to become a law?" the court could not look any further than the Secretary of State's office. If the act appeared there properly en-rolled by the enrolling clerk, and au-thenticated and certified by the signatures of the President and secretary of the Senate and the Speaker and clerk of the Assembly, and approved by the Governor, that settled the matter. The court could look no further, but must hold that the act, as thus enrolled, authenticated and certified, is a valid law, even though the journals should show that the necessary vote had not been received in either house. Such seems to be the dectrine as laid down in Sherto be the dectrine as laid down in Sherman vs. Story (30 Cal., 258), the lead ing case upon the subject in this State. In that case the Court cited the case of Spangler vs. Jacoby (14 Ill., 298), where it was held that, under the provisions of the Counstitution of Illinois, it is competent to show from the jour-nals of either branch of the Legislature that a particular act was the mode prescribed by the Constitution, and thus defeat its operation altogether. When this Illinois case was decided the Constitution of Illinois was substantially the same as our present Constitution, in so far as it is decided the Constitution, in so far as it is decided the Constitution, in so far as it is decided. Then we all knew that the next station was a terminus. When we reached was a terminus. When we reached journal of its proceedings," and hat, "on the final passage of hall bills, the vote shall be by yeas and nays and shall be entered on the journal, and no bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a ma-jority of all members elected in each house." Our Supreme Court bald lowever, in this case of Sherman vs. Story, that the Illinois case was not ap-plicable in this State, because under our then existing Constitution, there our then existing Constitution, there was no provision requiring the yeas and nays to be entered in the journals on the final passage of a bill.

Under the present Constitution, however, these things are required, and there is no doubt in my mind but that with respect to acts passed since the adoption of the new Constitution, the courts will go behind the act as en-courts will go behind the act as en-rolled, authenticated and deposited with the Secretary of State, and will examine the journals, and if it appears from the Assembly journal that the bill did not receive forty-one votes on final passage, the courts will hold that it is not a law.

The on her California case upon his matic this matter decided before the new Constitution was adopted is the continuous

I can find no case directly bearing upon this point decided by our Supreme Court since the adoption of the new Constitution. But in the Santa Clara Railroad tax case (9 Sawyer, 226,227,) Judge Sawyer, sitting as Circuit Judge in the United States Circuit Court, held that a certain alleged act which had been properly enrolled, authenticated and deposited in the office of the Secretary of State, was not a law, and was without effect, because it appeared, from an inspection of the journal of the Assembly, that the act did not on final passage receive forty-one votes. passage receive forty-one votes. The alleged act in this case was passed after the adoption of the new Constitution, and Judge Sawyer, who wrote the opinion, is the same judge who delivered the opinion in the of Sherman vs. Story, and while he does not give his reasons for holding that an apparent act, properly enrolled, may be held not to be a law if it affirmatively appear from the face of the journals that the necessary vote was not received, it is quite apparant that he has adopted the Illinois rule, because our new Constitution has changed the reasons for the rule laid down

Sherman vs. Story.
The only case decided by our Supreme Court since the new Constitution, which even approximates the point, is People vs. Dun (80 Cal., 211.) In that case it was held that it is not essential to the validity of a statute that it should af firmatively appear from the journals of the Senate and the Assembly that every act required by the Constitution to be done in the enactment of a law has been done. But it seems to be con-ceded in that case that if the journals show affirmatively on their face that something required by the Constitu-tion—as that the bill shall receive in each house the votes of a majority of those elected—was not had, that the courts will declare the alleged act not to be a law. In short, the doctrine of the lilinois and other State courts, based upon constitutional provisions similar to the provisions of our new Constituthe doctrine which will be adopted by our courts and applied Senate Bill No. 693; that is, if journals show that it did not receive twenty-one votes in the Senate and twenty-one votes in the Senate and forty-one in the Assembly, the courts, in my opinion, will hold that it is a nullity, no matter if it was properly enrolled, authenticated and deposited in the archives of the Secretary of State. In other words, the Supreme Court of this State will, in my opinion when the question is before my opinion, when the question is before it, hold to the doctrine entablished in those States where constitutional pro-visions relating to the passage of bills are the same as ours, and that doctrine is that the court will look to the jour nals of either house, and if it affirma tively appear therefrom that the act did not receive the requisite number of votes in either House will hold it to be Constitution requires that the yeas and nays shall be taken on the final passage of any bill and that they shall ing it to appear on the face of the jour nal that the bill passed by a constitu-tional majority, and the journal is thus made a part of the record of the act. in short, the courts, in my opinion, wil! under the peculiar provisions of the new Constitution, lay down a doctrine the reverse of that established by our California authorities under the old Con-stitution, and will hold that the journals looked to in determining whether or not the act has become

THRILLING IF UNFINISHED TALE An Englishman's Story of His Ride on an Engliserless Railraod Train. [Chicago Herald.]

Several gentlemen sitting together in the smoking compartment of a Pullman car fell to relating their experience in railroad accidents. Four or five adventures of the sort had been related, when an Englishman in the party declared that all these stories were as nothing compared with a railway tragedy in his own country of which he had been an unwilling spectator. Of course he was persons are practically out of doors. Our train had gone on without incident for some miles, when I, who was in one of the foremost car-riages, heard loud voices, apparently of persons in a violent quarrel, somewhere in front of me, I put my head out of the carriage window and saw that the engine-driver and stoker were engaged in a fight on the engine. Their angry words became fewer and fewer as their blows rained thicker and thicker upor each other. Finally they clinched in a desperate struggle. The driver seemed to be engaged in an attempt to force the stoker off the engine. I shouted to the guard, but he was out of my hear-ing in the after part of the train. Nearer and nearer the two desperate men came to the step of the engine. The driver gave his antagonist a desperate push; the stoker saw that he was gone, but he clung to the driver. A last terrible struggle, and over both went to the ground.

"This left the engine entirely un-attended. Evidently the steam had been left fully turned on, for the train the engine entirely unbegan rushing forward at an increas-ing rate of speed. The door of the smoking compartment opened and the porter cfiled out, "Albany!" "Good day, gentlemen!" said the Englishman, getting up quickly. "Sorry, but this is my station."

are craftily preparing for an era on huge sleeves as an offset. The fact that the size of the shoulder puffs has already been in some handsome new toilets too great for convenience or beauty shows that the dressmakers may again overreach themselves. Women do have sense in some matters of dress,

A BIG DEAL.

Sale of the City Water Company Consummated.

Final Negotiations Concluded in San Francisco Tuesday.

The Amount Not Given, but It is Well Up in the Millions.

The Purchasers a Strong Eastern Syndisate Headed by Hon. R. B. F. Pierce and John C. Shaffer-Something About the Men.

It became known yesterday for a positive fact that one of the largest deals ever made in, Southern California had been consummated. The City Water Company has changed hands, the new owner being an Eastern syndicate, Hon! R. B. F. Pierce and John C. Shaffer of Indianapolis. Negotiations have been in progress for the past three months between Messrs. W. H. Perry, W. J. Brodrick and H. W. Hellman, as a committee representing the stockholders of the water company, and Messrs. Wilson & Lamme, the legal representatives of the syndicate in this city. A final agreement was reached at a meeting held in the Nevada Bank, San Francisco, on Tuesday last, when the agreement was signed, and a deposit, said to have been $500,000, was paid, or that it is new rolls, a contact of the stockhold of the state of the stockhold of the state of the stockhold of the state o to have been $500,000, was paid, so that it is now only a question of details in making the transfer. The total amount of the purchase price is not stated, but as there is $2,500,000 stock, and it has always been regarded as glit edge, it is certainly well up in the millions. The matter has been kept very quiet, and the deal was made before anything was known about it.

A Times reporter called on Judge E. H. Lamme at his office in the California Bank building to learn the particulars Bank building to learn the particulars of the deal, if they could be given to the public. Mr. Lamme was feeling very goodnatured, as a man naturally would under such circumstances, and in reply to the reporter's question as to whether the city waterworks had been sold to the parties represented by him said:

"No, it is not; but the stock of the company has been purchased by a syndicate represented by R. B. F. Pierce and John C. Shaffer."
"How does it come that a deal of such magnitude can be made without coming to the ears of the public?" continued the represent to the ears of the public?" continued the reporter.

"In answer to that question, all I have to say is," replied Mr. Lamme, "that Mr. Perry, Mr. Mott, Mr. Brodrick and the Hellmans are not people that transact their business in a town meeting, nor do they call in the community and force their own persons. force their own personal affairs upon its attention without being in-vited to do so; nor are the purchasers men that hunt 'bumble bees with a brass band.' Until the deal was made, making the purchase deemed it necessary to advertise what they were doing. It is doubtful if any piece of property has been more successfully managed, given better results both to the owners and the public than that of the City and the public, than that of the City Waterworks; and by reason of the care-ful management the clean bill of health, which the gentlemen owning it could show, made it attractive to foreign show, made it attractive to foreign capital. You ask me who the purchasers are and where they come from? I will say I have known them well for twenty years, and that would be an annecessary question. 'where they came from,' as they are as well known in financial circles of New York and Chicago as are the gentlemen from whom the purchase was made in the Chicago as are the gentlemen from whom the purchase was made in the city of Los Angeles. Mr. Pierce east of the Missouri River has almost a national reputation, having served for a number of years in the lower house of Congress from Indiana. His position and standing in his own State in political, financial, and professional circles is exceeded by no man in Indiana. His integrity, his intelligence, his pesonal and financial character are such as to command the highest respect of all with whom he comes in contact. His experience in public, professional and financial affairs has been of that wide range which enables him to come in contact with and deal him to come in contact with and deal upon an equality with not only the best lawyers but the best business men of New York and Chicago. He is at present in actual control and manage, ment of a large railroad, which is only one of the many enterprises with which he is connected. As for Mr. Shaffer, there has probably been no man of his age in the financial circles of the East who has conducted such a series of uninterrupted, successful ventures. He is probably as well known in the financial him to come in contact with and dea The Celebrated French Cure Warranted APHRODITINE or money probably as well known in the financial circles of New York as he is in Chicago. He is young, active, energetic, cautious as I. W. Hellman himself, with a as I. W. Hellman himself, with a clear head; but when he makes up his mind his action is like a dart. He has the happy faculty of seeing much further into a millstone than most of the shrewd financiers with whom he comes in contact, and this unerring judgment has put him in a position where he commands the absolute confiwhere he commands the absolute confidence of capitalists in the financial circles of the leading cities of the East. This caution, coupled with his integrity and good judgment, has placed him at 35 years of age in a position which few men acquire, even with greater advantages, in a wnole lifetime. Of course, these gentlemen do not represent themselves alone, but are simply the representatives of a syndicate of which they are a part, with ample The Aphroditine Medicine Co. representatives of a syndicate or which they are a part, with ample means to conduct to a successful termination any enterprise in which they become engaged. A few months ago they came to Los Angeles on an outing, prepared to hear the wallings of the busted one-lunger who had come here expecting to get at least four ings of the busted one-lunger who had come here expecting to get at least four perfect respiratory organs inside of a week, and make his fortune on corner lots in the boom during the next, and accomplishing neither the one nor the other, went back and reported nothing in Southern California except unfinished hotels and windowless houses. When they arrived instead of finding, this condition of afairs, they heard the humming buzz of industry upon every hand, and saw what they considered the most beautiful city on the continent, and a prosperity which, to them, seemed absolutely marvelous. Instead of Los Angeles being simply the remnant of an exploded boom, they were astonished to find it the most flourishing and prosperous part of the United States, and they immediately began to cast about to ascertain of what the elements of this prosperity consisted. A number of weeks they wandered around through the country, examining with care the commercial and financial conditions, and finally concluded that of all places in the world to make the safest investment, Los Angeles was the best."

"Why, these gentlemen would not stock on hand and are determined to get rid of it before the season is over. From today we shall make lower prices, by 25 per cent, than any other first-class tailors. THE skirt and blouse patterns telegraphed for are here and now on sale. You should be in early as the supply is hardly equal to the demand. Everybody will be decked out in a big skirt, a blouse waist and a new cape. Greater selling of broadcloths than ever before; all-wool broadcloths $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50; colors, black, brown, tan! navy. green electric, white, slate; a craze for broadcloth capes. A Butterick pattern will help you out. If you prefer it we have the ready-made capes in over 100 different styles which cannot be duplicated by a home-made article; they cost a little more, but the style is there. Ready-made capes from $5 to $50; a large assortment $6 to $12.50. Old ladies' capes; they too must be looked after. Wash dress goods are now on the top notch of prosperity; 250 pieces new styles at 20c a yard; as many more at 25c, 30c and 35c; in the cheaper grades they come in big assortment at 81c to 15c; all new this season. We were fortunate last season in clearing our shelves of all we had, and commenced this season with fresh, new goods. Anderson's real Scotch zephyrs 25c; 32 inches wide. American zephyrs, same width, 15c. French sateens in plaid and illuminated figures; the new craze for blouse waists; already on the top wave of popular favor. The illuminated stripes come in light and dark grounds; green, purple and heliotrope min-gled with a dash of red and blue helps to swell out the colors in their gaiety. A season of bright colors; a relief from the somber shades of the days of vore. New blouse waists, as handsome as a picture, and easily within your reach, $1 up. New black sateen skirts, well made, for a dollar. A season for millinery at popular prices. The millinery trade is now at its best, and the best we ever had. Moderate prices for trimmed hats, $2 to $5; copied from our imported patterns; it is hard to discern the difference; the difference in price alone will enlighten you. We sell Royal Worcester corsets; they are the best; from a dollar up. New silk pongees in the big dress goods department-the largest in the city. Silks and velvets now selling greater than ever. Buy them. They are the best you ever saw at a dollar a yard.

Owney is nothing but a "common scrub," a cross between some kind of a terrier and some other breed, or breeds, not yet discovered. He has lots of good, common, dog sense, however, and the numerous different souvenirs at-tached to his collar-show that he has seen a great deal of the world. To accomplish this he simply gets on a train and rides until he wants to stom and, being known to every conductor, and railway mail clerk in the United States. he is never called on for ticket or cash fares.

The club had a special medal struck

The club had a special menal status off for Owney. his point of superiority being that he was the best-traveled dog in the whole show. In return for this piece of kindness Owney will remain with the show until its close, Saturday night, when he will resume his voyage night, when he will resume his voyage to the land of the Axtecs.

The other dogs do not seem to be aware of the interioper's presence, or they would howl more than they do, As it is, they make their share of noise, but they are probably not used to being chained up. In this respect quality is entirely out of the question—the dogs with blue ribbons get hungry as quick and crave water as much as the dogs who got no ribbons at all, or even the scrub, Owney, himself.

the scrub, Owney, himself.

Several times during the day they are fed on wholesome boiled meat and a sort of dog mush, both of which they sort of dog mush, both of which they seem to relish very much. Just previous to meal' times the noise is at its loudest, barks, yelps and other kinds of dog talk being all mixed up in one grand chorus. Soon the din ceases as the dinner begins, or, rather, the whining stops when the dining commences. Immediately after dinner, in the neighborhood of 1 o'clock, the judging was continued by George Raper of England, who was specially engaged for this purpose, and concluded at about 5. This disposes of the whole catalogue.

This disposes of the whole catalogue and now every dog who is entitled to colors has been given a blue, red or white ribbon, and proudly wears the same. Signs have also been tacked to the separate stalls, and the printed catalogues have been amended so that visitors will have no trouble in picking out the prize winners. Therefore to make any special mention would now be superfluous.

Suffice it to say that never before in the history of Los Angeles has such a general high quality of animals has general high quality of animals been exhibited. Valuable breeds which a few years ago were unknown in this neighborhood, such as St. Bernards Mastiffs, Great Danes, etc., are exceed-ingly well represented. The smaller dogs are also of high quality, higher than ever known before. In fact, no one will visit this bench show without feeling that the Southern California Kennel Club has performed a great work in britains about this great work in bringing about this state of affairs, for next to improving the hu-man race itself, that of raising the standard of the higher domestic ani-

number won by any individual exhibitor. His fox terrier puppy, Lomita Patch, out of his bitch Winifreda, won five cups and was adjudged the best fox terrier bred on the Coast.

MR. RAPER TALKS. George Raper, who has judged the dogs at the bench show, has rooms at the Hollenbeck. Mr. Raper will remain in Los Angeles until the end of next week, when he leaves for San Francisco. After judging at the dog show in that city he goes to Scattle, from whence he travels directly to Munich, Germany, on a similar mission. Mr. Raper said he had to decline remunerative positions in Chicago and New York, as he had signed an agreement as early as last December to be in Munich about the time the big shows in Chicago and New York will take place. Mr. Kaper speaks very highly of the dogs on exhibition here, and says that at the present rate of progress our dogs will be equal to any exhibited in the larger cities of Europe, where canine culture has long been practiced.

Further Facts Concerning Mayer's Connection With the Sewer.

Fair-Bold and Successful Burglary-Personal Notes and Brevities.

Ex-City Engineer Mayer evidently desire to prolong the sewer controversy-so here

An overdue and overdone communication from Mr. Mayer, published in Thursday's Star, opens like this: "THE TIMES of yesterday morning contained a long article evi-dently for the purpose of making it appear that the uncalled for and slanderous attack on me in public of His Honor, O. F. Weed, was justifiable;" to which answer is made that if any doubts had been previously entertained on the subject, they were removed after the reporter had made an impartial investigation for the purpose of giving to the public what are believed to be the true facts of the case. THE TIMES is now of the impression that Mayor Weed's so-called impression that Mayor Weed's so-called impression that Mayor Weed's so-called impression which is concurred in by a great many. Pasadenians, including some of the signers to Mr. Mayer's petition for new paving specifications. The remainder of Mr. Mayer's communication deals largely in generalities, and an attempt at direct reply is made to just two paragraphs contained in The Times' "long" article.

Here is one of them: "But just south of the railroad crossing a gate was placed in the main to force the sewage up to the highest point in Mr. Bishop's orange or chard, some distance west; that is, Mr. Mayer had so arranged without the knowledge or consent of the Council." And here is the gist of Mr. Mayer's reply: "The City Council entered into the contract with Mr.

Bishop to have this very gate and others constructed, which arrangement was part

Bishop to have this very gate and others constructed, which arrangement was part of the consideration for a right-of-way."

To throw additional light on this branch of the subject, it may be stated that the Council knew all about the construction of this gate, and, further, knew that it was a part of the contract to furnish Mr. Bishop sewage on certain days. What the Council did not know, and the part of the transaction that was arranged by Mr. Mayer "without the knowledge or consent" of this body, was the laying of a pipe from the gate to Mr. Bishop's orchard, which lies west of the main highway leading south, for the express purpose of forcing the sewage to the highest point on the land, which is some twenty feet higher than the gate. The bulk of Mr. Bishop's land lies east of the sewer main. This was surveyed by Mr. Mayer, under instructions from the Council, and, after it was found that it could be supplied with sewage without pressure, a clause granting the was increased. supplied with sewage with ut pressure, a clause granting this was incorporated into the contract. No member of Council knew that Mr. Mayer had surveyed Mr. Bishop's orchard land, wnich is considerably higher, and if the fact had been even hinted at that orchard land, which is considerably higher, and if the fact had been even hinted at that the engineer contemplated forcing sewage by pressure up this elevation the contract would never have been signed by the city authorities. It was only after the work was well under way that the councilmen became acquainted with this feature of the case, and investigation proved that the contract had unsuspectingly been so worded as to obligate the Council to carry out the impracticable ideas which had been agreed upon by Mr. Bishop and Mr. Mayer. The term "impracticable" applies in its fullest sense, for, after laying a second pipe at the city's expense for the simple purpose of forcing the sewage to the topmost knoll on Mr. Bishop's possessions, said sewage has never failed to burst the pipe at the east end of the orchard at a level away below its intended destination. Mr. Mayer, it is stated, built the outfall sewer system largely on theory—the theory that sewage, like water, will seek its own level, but the sewage simply wouldn't agree to such a proposition and so the pipes burst. The Council ter, will seek its own level, but the sewage simply wouldn't agree to such a proposition, and so the pipes burst. The Council was willing to have the gate built and to supply Mr. Bishop's grain fields with sewage, but Council was not willing—nor did such a proposition ever enter the heads of the members—to force sewage up into Mr. Bishop's orchard, and this is where Mr. Mayer went it alone.

Mayer went it alone.

The second paragraph in THE TIMES' article to which Mr. Mayer takes exception reads to the effect that he did not lay the pipe south of the Southern Pacific Railroad track' according to the line surveyed and purchased by the Council. In reply Mr. Mayer states that "the sewer is built exactly upon the lines secured by a great deal of money." This is true. The Council bought a right-of-way across lands, but Mr. Mayer afterward decided to build on the boundary lines thereof. This was an bought a right-of-way across lands, but Mr. Mayer afterward decided to build on the boundary lines thereof. This was an afterthought on Mr. Mayer's part, which he kept to himself until the trenches were dug and the pipe laid. Adjoining the sewer farm on the north is a strip of land owned by Mr. Mayberry. Between Mr. Mayberry's land and the Southern Pacific Railroad is Mr. Bishop's land. Council paid Mr. Bishop $5000 and Mr. Mayberry $1000 for a right-of-way from the railroad to the sewer farm. A straight diagonal line running in a southeasterly direction was decided upon in the preliminary survey and approved for the reason that it was the shortest route between the two points and also because it would bring the pipe to the highest point on the north line of the farm, which is about midway between its east and west boundary lines, and from which the sewage could be drained in all directions. Mr. Mayer followed the diagonal line until he had reached a point somewhere near the northwest corner of Mr. Mayberry's possession, and then, instead of continuing across that gentleman's land, he switched off on a tangent due south, following Mr. Mayberry's west boundary line to the farm. Trenches and sewer pipe do not come so high when they go sashaying across the middle of fields, at least that is boundary lines as when they go sashaying across the middle of fields, at least that is the opinion of the Councilmen, who, had they desired to adopt such a course or had they imagined that Mr. Mayer would do so on his own responsibility, would never have paid Mr. Mayberry $1000 for the privilege of running down his west line, all of which of running down his west line, all of which will serve to enlighten the general public as to why Mr. Mayer and the Councilmen are at outs on this score.

Mr. Mayer's communication calls for nothing further in reply It might be added, however, that instead of the gate to which reference has been made and which was called for in the specifications. Mr. Mayer allowed to be substituted a plain iron plate, which cost everybody but the city a good deal less than a twenty-inch gate.

AN ADEPT IN HIS PROPESSION A bold burglar effected an entrance Wednesday night into the residence of C. B. Hewitt at the corner of Cariton street and Union avenue. The room in which Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt were sleeping was entered, and, without awakening either of the occupants, the burgiar walked away with a suit of clothing containing Mr. Hewitt's gold watch and a purse containing about $40. The clothes were found yesterday morning on a vacant lot about a square away, minus their valuable contents. Ten dollars belonging to Mrs. Hewitt was also taken from the bureau. A light was burning in the room, and the surprising part of the business is that the intruder could carry out his plans so successfully without arousing any one. There is no clue to the guilty party.

A FLOOR FOR THE PAMPAS PALACE.

The floor for the pampas palace at the World's Fair building was completed yesterday evening at the Wooster Block by Throop University students, who have made noticeable progress in the wood-working department under Prof. Parker's efficient supervision. Today it will be packed for shipment to Chicago. The floor is a masterplece of wood-work, and when polished up will present a beautiful appearance. It is made up of nearly seventeen hundred separate pleces of wood, redwood, white pine, orange, black walnut, birch, oak, mahogany and white cedar being among the varieties used. The center piece is in the form of a six-pointed star, while an elaborate border near the outside edge cuts a conspicuous figure in the design, which is artistic in all of its details and executed with great skill. Nearly one thousand pleces of wood have been used in the border and center piece. Pamphlets will be distributed among the visitors to the pampas palace, setting forth the fact that the floor was constructed by the Throop University students, which will prove a valuable advertisement for this institution and for Pasadena as well.

Mr. Snyder to a raking cross-examination. Mr. Snyder gave a detailed account of the confiagration. The points in his testimony which most interest the public are, first, his statement concerning Sirene, his accuser. He positively states that Sirene was asleep when the fire broke out, and only awoke when he himself aroused him. Mr. Snyder also denies the testimony of Mr. Leslie, one of the attorneys for the prosecution, and a resident of Los Alamos, which was to the effect that upon running to the fire he met Mr. Snyder, fully dressed, upon the street. The latter declares that he was not rully dressed until 11 o'clock that day.

twenty-six active members, fifty-nine subscribing members and eight donating members. The motto of the society is "in faith and hope the world will disagree, but all mankind's concern is charity."

The mission came into existence in 1889, and this is, consequently, the fourth year. It has been very helpful to the poor, and, in fact, the young ladies are doing a good work for the human race.

If there is anything on earth that makes an orange-grower "warm around his neckband" now, it is to mention "market." Some of them can "cuss" a blue streak from home to the office, and then not let up. If you ask "why is this thusness every grower and buyer (that was) has a special reason. The fact remains that the orange trees are fuller of lusclous fruit than they perhaps have ever been before at this time of year, and if anybody is running around looking for oranges to buy, he don't say anything about it. And maybe you don't think the old "hosses" that favor deciduous fruits are not having agreat time. They say deciduous fruits are as natural to California as weeds, and the sooner people find they are the best pay in the long run the better.

A Story With a Moral That Speaks for Itself.

Why an Intending Investor Put His Money in Another Section of the State—Throwing Doubt on Land Titles.

SANTA ANA.
"What a blessing it would be if lightning would strike about seven narrow-minded, contracted residents of Orange county and wipe them from the face of the earth," vas the somewhat cruel remark of a wellknown former resident of Santa Ana, but a present resident of Los Angeles, to a press reporter a few days ago.

"Why, what do you mean?" queried the

"Let me tell you a little story," he answered as he drew near the scribe, "and then see if you will not agree with me. What I shall tell you is the truth, and I can then see if you will not agree with me. What I shall tell you is the truth, and I can verify everything I say.

"Several weeks ago a gentleman from the East came to California for the purpose of selecting a home. He came to Los Angeles, where he met some old acquaintances with whom he advised as to a suitable place to locate. He was requested to go down to Orange county. He came to Santa Ana, and, after looking around over the county for several days, selected a beautiful place near Tustin, which he decided would suit him exactly. He made inquiry as to whether or not the owner would sell the place, and ascertained that he would. A price was agreed upon, and the next day the owner of the place was to come to Santa Ana and get one of the abstract companies to prepare an abstract of the land. A neighbor, who, for convenience in describing, is designated as neighbor No. 1, upon learning that the gentleman was about to sell his place, met the prospective buyer and soon ascertained that he expected to become a resident of Tustin. Well, sir, said neighbor No. 1, growing quite confidential, now, do you know that the title is not just as good on that piece of land as it might be? And then the fruit, too, is not as select as that In my orchard, which I will sell you for the same money. After talking for some little time the stranger back to town. He did not think very much of what he had heard until the next day, when he met another gentleman—neighbor No. 2—with whom he engaged in conversawhen he met another gentleman—neighbor No. 2—with whom he engaged in conversawhen he met another gentleman—neighbor No. 2—with whom he engaged in conversation, during which mention was made of his prospective purchase. Neighbor No. 2 at once became interested in his new acquaintance. He ventured to say that he was glad to see new-comers looking this way; that he hadn't any land himself that he was particular about selling, although he had one piece, a little better located than what the stranger had just bought, and then it was better soil, too, which he might sell for the same money as his neighbor. 'Now, my title is all right,' he began. 'By the way, that is something you want to look after pretty carefully,' he remarked to the stranger. 'Now, I've heard, but I don't know how true it is, that the title on that piece you bought of Mr.——is not juct as good as it might be.' 'In less than an hour the acquaintance of neighbor No. 3 was made, and, strange to say, a conversation something after the say, a conversation something after the style of the talks with neighbors Nos. 1 and 2 took place. Two days passed, during which time seven different neighbors which time seven dinerent negators made the acquaintance of the newcomer, and clamored for his ear to pour into it the idle vaporings of a narrow, contracted and jealous mind. Seven neighbors told the newcomer to not purchase the land he had bargained for, but to buy some piece in which they had an interest or owned the whole.

which time seven different neighbors made the acquaintance of the newcomer, and clamored for his ear to pour into it the idle vaporings of a narrow, contracted and jealous mind. Seven neighbors told the newcomer to not purchase the land he had bargained for, but to buy some plece in which they had an interest or owned the whole.

"The stranger came to town, went to the abstract office and told the tracer of records to go no further and he would pay him for what trouble he had been to. The land,' said the stranger, is all right. I am satisfied as to the soil, and of course the abstract would satisfy me as to the title but I have been around in that neighborhood a little the past day or two—and then, after relating in substance what each of the seven neighbors had told him, he said.' but I'll be —— if I would live in the neighborhood if they would give me the land and pay me a salary per month to live upon it.' This man left Santa Ana the next morning and went to Highlands, where he has invested $73,000, and before another year he will probably invest as much more.

"Now what do vou think of the story?"

rear he will probably invest as much more.

"Now, what do you think of the story? Is it any wonder that Orange county has a bad name, when such people as these seven neighbors are allowed to libel anyone of their number. In such anyone of their number in such an outlandish manner? Now, I know that Orange county is all right and that its people, as a rule, are among the most intelligent and sociable of any community on the coast. It is unjust to the county and to its people that such to the county and to its people that such reports should go out, and that anyone should be treated as this particular stranger was treated. Now you have the story and if you folks can profit by it I hope you will "

and it you folks can pront by its apper you.

The above was told the reporter by a highly respected former citizen of Santa Ana who has grieved to think that Orange county had such residents as the seven neighbors referred to. The matter has been reported to the Chamber of Commerce which body of men will no doubt see that such unprincipled practices are discontinued at once, for no community can build up successfully when each resident is striving to further his own interests by tearing downthose of his neighbor.

Consumption, Consumption,
This disease has become very prevalent in our land, insomuch that about one in seven die with this terrible scourge.
The following are prominent symptons in the drst stage, and wherever any of them exist a thorough examination should always be made with a view to arrest the disease if shown to exist: There is usually a sense of wearmess upon a little exercise, a disposition to remain passive and idle, despondency, often from no apparent cause, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effects of cold and a breathlessness upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or stairs, a slight hacking couch, with or without expectoration, excitability upon slight occasions, flying pains through the chest or back, or under the shoulder blades. These symptoms are more noticeable toward or during the night, slight fever in the afternoon, cold feet and hands, or in many cases a blue lividity of the lips and roots of the fluge pails. Sometimes spitting of blood or slight streaks in the mucous is the first indication of tubercular deposit, or it may be a chilly sensation in the back, followed by more or less heat in the palms of the hands, or an afternoon flush on the cheeks. The slow and gradual in the back, followed by more or less heat in the palms of the hands, or an afternoon flush on the cheeks. What the World's Fair Rate Will Probably Be.

The Announcement is Expected to Arrive Today.

New Trains to the Seashore for the Summer.

That Bellevue Horse Car Line-Yosemite Business Has Opened-General, Local and Personal Rallroad Mention

The ticket agents in Los Angeles are becoming distracted over the volume inquiries poured into their ears daily, of morning to night, regarding the promised round-trip rates to the Chicago World's Fair. Judging by the number of people who appear so anxious on this subject, everybody in Southern California thinks of going to the big show. It is possible, however, that some of these people will not go to Chicago this year, even if the rate were placed at one-half or one-quarter of what will finally be decided upon.
It is confidently expected, by local men, that word will be received today announcing the rate agreed upon from the Pacific Coast. One passenger man here, whose position and experience comwhose position and experience command respect for his prognostications, says he thinks the round-trip rate will be $100. This is only $10 lower than the present regular rate from the West and is equal to the round-trip rate now in force from the East. What General Passenger Agent Goodman of the Southfern Pacific will do with his promise to make a rate of one fare for the rounds. make a rate of one fare for the round make a rate of one-stare for the round trip $72.50, remains to be seen. It is more than likely that the first rate announced will be higher than most people expected, say from $80 to $100, but these figures are likely to be reduced later. No one who has studied the situation doubts the prohability of a passenger-rate was the probability of a passenger-rate war to the World's Fair, providing the threatened strike can be averted. The Santa Fé will claim all passenger business for Southern California, and, if necessary, can afford to cut under the rate offered by the Northern routes. Therefore, it is safe to say that the to modify the disappointment which many people will feel when the long-ex-pected rate is officially announced. NO HOPE OF ADJUSTING WORLD'S FAIR RATES. CHICAGO, April 20 .- By the Associited Press.] All the work done by the Western Passenger Association during the last six weeks went by the board to day. All the members of the associa-tion threw up their hands and gave up hope of an immediate adjustment of World's Fair rates. The cause of the collapse was the announcement by Pas-senger Traffic Manager White of the Atchinson road that his company would, at the expiration of thirty days, withdraw from the association. This was done, he said, because his line could not secure protection in could not secure protection in World's Fair rates west of the Missouri River, where it does its largest busi-The Denver and Rio Grande had refused to join the association unless its local troubles with the Colorado Midland were settled. The Burlington and the Rock Island took the stand that an agreement west of the Missouri River is impossible without the Denver and Rio Grande. This was the splitting point, and it proved an effectual one. The Atchison people say they withdraw not with any intention of cut-

SANTA FE AND SOUTHERN PACIFIC. The Chicago Herald of the 14th inst. says: "The traffic arrangement between the Atchison and Southern Pacific on transcontinental traffic has spurred connecting lines to lock the stable door after the horse has been stolen. A majority of them are willing reduced rates. The Atchison and Southern Pacific may or may not think it worth their while to allow connections to accept the old divisions. They are perfectly satisfied to let matters re-main as they are. Their arrangement is not exclusive, nor is it binding on either line. It is simply the most satisfactory method to them of shandling transcontinental traf-fic. In furtherance of the arrange-ment and also on account of the horse ment, and also on account of the boomerang resolution of Central Traffic lines refusing to prorate on the reduced rates, the west-bound tariffs will be abrogated April 25 on business east of Chicago. This will force all the business to the Atchison at Chicago or St. Louis, or to the Southern Pacific at New Orleans, they being the only two lines to quote the reduced rates from the points named. A meeting of all the transcontinental lines will be held in St. Paul April 19, to confer regardment, and also on account of the boo in St. Paul April 19, to confer regard ing a basis on west-bound rates on traf-fic originating east of Chicago. Neither the Atchison nor Southern Pacific cares to push the advantage it has, and an agreement will probably be

The special committee, consisting of Directors Jones. Elsen, Parsons and Germain, appointed to prepare resolutions to be presented by the delegates at the Transmississippi Congress, reported, advising that the following resolutions be offered on the subject of a deep-water harbor near Los Angeles:
Whereas, the United States Government has for some time had in contemplation the construction of a deep-water harbor, Testimony as to the Defendant's Motive for Marrying.

tion Through Dr. West Hughes-More Expert Evidence on ...

The spacious courtroom of Departnent One was taxed to its utmost to commodate the number of spectators which assembled there yesterday to witness the proceedings in the trial of the Bentley murder case, which was resumed before Judge Smith and a jury for the fourth day. In fact, so dense was the crowd in the lobby and aisles that the witnesses had considerable lifficulty in making their way to and from the witness stand, even when un-der escort of the bailiff, who was prac-

Most of the testimony introduced yesterday by the prosecution was for the purpose of showing the motive which actuated the defendant in marrying the deceased, but this did not prove to be very effective, as the witnesses to this end were inveigled into admitting almost everything the wily counsel for the defendant desired them to admit. An effort was also them to admit. An effort was also made to offset the sensational statement made by Undertaker Cussen on Wednesday last, by showing that Dr. de Szigethy examined the body of deceased after it had been embalmed, and while it was laid upon the cooling-board; but the physician was very positive that he did not disturb the corpse, and left it in identically the same position in which he found it.

One important point was gained, however, through the medium of Dr. West Hughes, the only witness so far who has succeeded in holding his own with the astute attorney who is conducting the defense, and that was as to the fact that ptomaine poisons do not respond to all the chemical tests for stryohnia, the defense having laid great stress upon the theory that it was impossible to tell one from the other in a chemical analysis.

The first witness called was Ramon R. Valencia, a wiry little Mexican, who testified to the effect that he now resided in San Francisco, but that he for sided in San Francisco, but that he formerly lived in this city. He knew Mrs.
Bentley very well during her lifetime.
She was his godmother, and had reised and educated him. He also knew the defendant, having first become acquainted with him in May, 1891. Just prior to his marriage with Mrs. Nordholt Bentley had several conversations with the witness, at the house of deceased, where witness and his wife were llying.

Counsel for the defense objected to the witness being called upon to relate what those conversations were, upon the ground that it was incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial, inadmissible, too remote, and had nothing to do with the case whatever; but as District Attorney Dillon explained to the Court that they tended to show the motive of the defendant, the objection was over-upled, to which ruling an exception was noted.

Valencia then parrated very graphi-Valencia then parrated very graphi-cally and at considerable length the various conversations he had had with Bentley upon the subject of the latter's approaching marriage with Mrs. Nord-holt. The substance of his narrative was that Bentley led him to understand that he did not want to place his head in a halter without knowing all about his bride's circumstances, as he had plenty of other chances which it might be better for him to accept. He ap-peared very anxious to know how much money Mrs. Nordhoit had in the bank, money Mrs. Nordholt had in the bank, how much longer witness thought she would live and whether or not her property was heavily mortgaged.

Witness stated that Bentley held out certain inducements to him to assist him in his efforts to win the old lady, but he was not allowed to tell what these inducements was although Disthose inducements were, although Dis-trict Attorney Dillon argued that all this tended to show the defendant's motive in killing his wife. Valencia was next called upon to tes-

Valencia was next called upon to testify as to the defendant's manner toward the old lady, and stated that he greeted her fondly when they met, patting her on the back, and calling her "Donna," but at the same time looked at witness over his shoulder "with a funny laugh, as much as to say, 'the old

The defense objected vigorously to the witness being allowed to testify to his conclusions drawn from Bentley's actions, but Valencia, encouraged by the laughter of the spectators, would not be denied, and even the stern admo-nitions of the Court failed to cure him of this propensity.

The prosecution then endeavored to show by the witness that Bentley was an impecunious adventurer when he married Mrs. Nordholdt, but the Court sustained the objection of the defense to this line of questioning, remarking that men purposely married women for their money every day, but that the fact that they did so did not necessarily imply that they wanted to kill their wives. of this propensity.

Valencia was, however, allowed to state that Bentley told him that he had no money and had to borrow some in order to buy clothes in which to get married, to which he voluntarily added that the defendant "got round the old lady someway," and induced her to give him money.

Over the objections of the defense, witness was allowed to relate another conversation relative to Bentley having induced the old lady to furnish him with money with which to start a contracting business in San Francisco, District Attorney Dillon explaining to the Court that all this tended to show a conspiracy on the part of defendant, to which Attorney Goodrich remarked sarcastically:

THE BENTLEY TRIAL had been deserted by her husband, who left her there sick and without means, for the purpose of showing his intentions toward her, but the Court remarked that if the deceased saw fit to economize in that way, he could not see that it was material to the case at issue.

Valencia amused his audience vastly by his comments upon the condition in which he found Mrs. Bentley, but was finally pulled up short by the Court. An effort was made to show by the witness that Bentley had told him that the old lady had furnished him with money for the purpose of fighting the heirs, but the objections of the defense were sustained.

At the close of the direct examination of the witness. Attorney Goodrich moved the Court to strike out the whole of his testimony upon the grounds stated in his previous objections, but Judge Smith overruled the motion, remarking that as the matter had gone to the jury already, the Court would not disturb it.

A special motion to strike out that part of the testimony which related to a particular conversation with refer-ence to the old lady, met with a like fate.

Upon cross-examination the witness admitted that he claimed to be an heir to the estate of the deceased to a certain extent, and that his expenses from San Francisco to this city had been paid by Detective Lawson, who interviewed him two or three times at his home. He also admitted that when Bentley asked how long he thought the old lady would live, the defendent referred to the $800 per month income, and that his object in asking that question was that of ascertaining how long he might count upon her being able to draw that amount.

Much to the evident amusement of his audience, Valencia succumbed to the blandishments of Attorney Goodrich, and admitted that Mrs. Nordholt knew that Bentley did not have a dollar to his name when she married him, and that he (witness) had, at the request of Will Nordholt, left San Francisco and returned here for the purpose of using his influence in order to prevent the marriage, but that Mrs. Nordholdt was very fond of Bentley and married him in spite of his influence.

The prosecution, upon redirect examination, called upon the witness to produce a letter from Will Nordholdt, asking him to come to Los Angeles, but it being shown that when he received it Valencia did not know Bentley, the Court, after perusing the epistle, sus-tained the objection of the defense and refused to admit it in evidence.

Mrs. Kate Valencia, the wife of the preceding witness, then took the stand, and also related a number of conversations which she had had with Bentley, some of which were in the presence of her husband. Although their testimony was to the same effect, in the main, it was noticeable that Mrs. Valencia tes-tified to quite a number of details which her husband omitted to refer to.

Upon her cross examination, which was very brief, an effort was made by the defense to show that, although the witness and her husband found her in a destitute and hungry condition at the Eastern Hotel, they made no attempt to relieve her necessities by either sending her anything or giving her a cent; but the prosecution came to her rescue, and, upon redirect examination, showed that she had offered to take Mrs. Bentley to her home, but that the land-lady of the hotel would not accede to the proposition, because Bentley had placed his wife in her charge before he went away.

Mrs. Fehlemelcher, the landlady of the Eastern Hotel, was then called, and, through the medium of an interpreter, testified to the effect that Bentley and his wife lived at her house Bentley and his wife lived at her house upon two occasions, once for two weeks and the second time for six weeks. In the mean time they lived at the Russ House, but Bentley told her that it cost too much to live at a fine hotel like that, and assigned that as his reason for returning. They occupied room 9 on the top story. The dining-room was in the basement.

Witness then related several conversations between herself and Bentley with reference to his marriage, in which he told her that he had married his wife for her money, and that he came from Hamburg, in Germany.

The Court sustained the objection of the defense to the question as to what his name was when he lived in Ger-many, and, after she had related a few incidents for the purpose of showing his treatment of the deceased, a recess was declared by the Court until 2 p.m. AFTERNOON SESSION.

Upon reconvening at 2 o'clock the examination of the witness was resumed. She stated that she had several conversations with Bentley relating to his marriage with his wife, but added that it would take about a year to relate them all. Over the objection of the defense she was allowed to relate a conversation with Bentley upon the subject of his treatment of his wife, at which he told her that he treated her as. Spanish women were accustomed to be treated. Witness was shown a photograph, and once identified it as that of Mrs. Bentley. The photograph was affered in evidence, but the defense objected on the ground that it was only half of a photograph.

Counsel for the prosecution 'admitted frankly that the photograph had been cut in half, and after an exchange of badinage between counsel the objec-tion was withdrawn and the photograph tion was withdrawn filed as an exhibit.

who was going to pay her expenses had told her that the money she paid out would be refunded, but did not tell her by whom.

At the conclusion of the examination of the German lodging-house keeper, the prosecution called Mr. Gretz, but the witness failed to respond, and after a delay of some fifteen minutes or more, the District Attorney announced that he regretted to say that his witness was not in the building. He informed the not in the building. He informed the Court, however, that at 2 o'clock he had seen Gretz and his wife in the courtroom and asked them to wait outside in the hall, as he intended to call Judge Smith chafed at the delay, and ook occasion to remark that the Court did not propose to be delayed in order to suit the convenience of witnesses. After they had once been subpenaed it was their duty to be in attendance upon the court.

Finally the matter was compromised by the reappearance of Dr. West Hughes, in response to a telephonic summons, who was recalled by the prossummons, who was recalled by the pros-ecution for the purpose of answering a few questions which counsel had over-looked when he was upon the stand on Wednesday. Dr. Hughes stated pos-tively that the poisons known as ptomaines, which were animal alka-loids, would not respond to all the tests for strephala although they did to some for strychnia, although they did to some of them. He thereupon detailed minutely the differences between the processes used for the determination of the presence of the two poisons.

He was then questioned as to the pos-sibilities for the finding of strychnia in the various organs after death, and stated, among other things, that it did not necessarily follow that, after the death of a person from strychnia pois-oning, any trace of the poison would be found in the organs other than the stomach. He cited a number of in-stances in which analyses of the organs

Upon cross-examination the doctor admitted that in cases of persons dying from strychnia poisoning, one would ordinarily expect to find traces of it in the liver, because after absorption by the capillaries of the stomach that was the first place to which it would be conveyed. It all depended, however, upon how long after death and the administration of the poison the examination was made, and it did not necessarily follow that it would be found there. would be found there.

The doctor endeavored to explain himself, but when Attorney Goodrich insisted upon pinning him down to the question as to whether or not, should enough strychnia be found in a person's stomach to kill two people, one would not be apt to find some of it in the liver, ordinarily; he replied that he did not know, and was told to stand aside.

Dr. Charles de Szigethy was then called, and testified to the effect that on the morning of January 1 last, Undertaker Cunningham called at his fromse and requested him to sign a certificate of death; but that he refused to do so until he had satisfied himself. do so until he had satisfied himself that the person was dead. He then went down to the Bentley residence on the corner of Seventh and Wall streets, and upon being admitted by Will Nordholt, who informed him of the death of his mother, went into the room where the body was laid out. He examined the eyes, moved the arms, and placed his ear over the heart, to assion of animation, and then left the house.

Upon cross-examination the doctor stated positively that he neither moved the head nor body of the deceased, but left the corpse exactly as he had found it. At the close of the doctor's testi-mony, District Attorney Dillon an-nounced that he regretted to inform the Court that the witness Gretz and his wife had not yet been found, although they had told other witnesses in the hall that they were going to put a horse up in a stable and would return immediately. He therefore asked that at-tachments be issued for them, and that the matter be investigated, as the pros-ecution was not responsible for their

In response to a question put by the Court, Attorney Denis stated that there were other witnesses for the prosecution, but that until Dr. Burnett, who had not yet been brought in upon the at-tachment issued several days ago, had been examined, these other witnesses could not be asked the hypothetical questions it was proposed to ask them. He must, therefore, ask the indulgence of the Court until this morning. For the benefit of the counsel for the dethe benefit of the counsel for the defense, Mr. Denis stated that the prosecution expected to get through with its testimony by this afternoon. As there appeared no other way out of the difficulty, court adjourned for the day at 3:30 o'clock, the case going over until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

A Surprising Investment.

Have you ever looked upon education as an investment? It is immaterial if your parents paid for it, or if you paid for it yourself. Either way it was an investment, and you are reaping the returns, which is the interest. The interest is in the form of knowledge and the est is in the form of knowledge and the power which knowledge gives you in this world. Knowledge is largely a matter of reference. No man can remember all he would like, all he needs to know. If your learning is all stored in your brain, and you have no library to fall back on to refer to, you are getting perty small interest indeed. Capito fall back on to refer to, you are get-ting very small interest indeed. Capi-tal, then, is represented by your li-brary. If you already own a library, good. If not, invest some more capi-tal that you may get higher interest and not have to draw on the principal. But to own a library, as a rule, requires large capital. Almost more than the filed as an exhibit.

It was shown by the witness that she had offered to carry Mrs. Bentley's meals up to her room, as she was too heavy to climb up and down stairs, but that Bentley had demurred upon the ground that it was too expensive. She stated that when they left the house Bentley wanted his wife to ride upon the express wagon with the trunks, but that a Spanish gentleman appeared on the scene and hired a hack for the old lady, paying for it himself. Upon one occasion, she stated. Bentley received 25 cents from his wife, with which to buy grapes, but upon his return he told witness that he had only purchased 5 cents worth. He said that was enough, because his wife ate too much.

Isham G. Harris of Tennessee, President Pro Tem.

Senators Sherman and Morrill and Their Long Association.

nator Arthur P. Gorman, Once a Page is Not So Old as Harris, but is Stronger in Democratic Leadership.

Special Correspondence of The Times.

Washington, April 14.—Since the new law of Presidential succession was passed, a few years ago, the position of President pro tempore of the Senate no longer carries with it the possibility of accession to the Presidency, and so the office is one of less importance than formerly, although it is yet one of the positions of the highest dignity in the While not now the direct heir to the Chief Magistracy, the President pro tempore presides over the Senate during the temporary or prolonged ab-sence of the Vice-President, and, in case of his death, becomes acting Vice-President, with the additional $3000 salary. The President pro tempore is, as a rule, recognized as the parliamentary leader of the majority on the floor of the Senate, but in the case of Hon. Isham G. Harris of Tennessee, recently elected to this position, the rule is not likely to hold good, for Senator Gorman, the oily, plausible and always thoroughly posted representative of Maryland's interests, is easily the Democratic leader in the Senate. This has been proven on numerous occasions during the brief six weeks the Demo-crats have been in power at the Senate end of the Capitol. If Senator Gorman wants anything done, no matter whether Senator Harris likes it or not, it goes, and goes promptly, while the latter has several times backed down and withdrawn motions he has made and insisted upon, simply because Senator Gorman suggested that another way would be best.

If. however, he can't be the leader on the floor, the new President pro tempore combines with his other great honor that of being chairman of the great Committee on the District of Columbia, which makes him practically Mayor of Washington city, and gives him the largest and finest committee. him the largest and finest committeeroom in the Senate end of the Capitol, with a high-priced clerk (his own and a messenger.

Arthur P. Gorman, who leads the Senate, in spite of the traditions in favor of such leadership by Senator Harris, is only 54 years old—a boy compared with many of the Senators he so easily controls and influences-yet his has also been a most remarkable career. He was born to be a leader of men, and he early grasped his oppor-tunity. He entered the service of the Senate in 1852, as a page, when only 18 years old, and in fourteen years he had risen to be postmaster of that body. He was then (in 1866) removed, but was at once made Collector of Internal Revenue in Maryland by Andy Johnson. Gen. Grant "bounced" him in 1869, and for the next ten years he was director and president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company, member and Speaker of the House of Delegates of the Maryland Legislature. State Senator for four years and re-elected in 1879 for another four years. He was then, in the winter of 1880, elected to the United States Senate, was reëlected in 1886, and again in 1892, his third term having just begun on March 4 last.

In the matter of Senatorial veterans and patriarchs the Republican side can easily discount the Democratic, as they can in point of real ability and downright capacity to mould and shape public opinion and enact necessary and wise laws. Senators Justin S. Morrill of Vermont and John Sherman of Ohio are a pair that have never had a rival,

Senator Morrill is thirteen years the senior of Senator Cherman. He has this week celebrated, with considerable ceremony, his eighty-third birthday, while Mr. Sherman is only 70. Mr. Morrill is very feeble, and while as vig-orous in mind as ever, he shows plainly that he is living, as he has been now these many years, on "borrowed time." These distinguished Senators had both been prominent in law and politics in their native States, until, at the beginning of the Thirty-fourth Congress, in the spring of 1855, they entered the House of Representatives at the same time. Their lives ran along together for four Congresses, when Mr. Sherman was elected to the United States Senate. He was reëlected in 1866 and again in 1872. He dropped out of the Senate in 1877 to enter President Hayes's Cabinet as Secretary of the Treasury. Before his term as Secretary expired he had been again elected to the Sen-ate, and March 4, 1881, he stepped out of the Cabinet and back into the Senate, and he is there still, having been reflected in 1886 and 1892. He been redlected in 1886 and 1892. He has thus served his country continuously for thirty-eight years, eight as a member of Congress, four as a Cabinet officers and twenty-six as a Senator, and has just begun, March 4 last, another six years' term.

Senator Morrill continued on in the House for twelve years, and then, in March, 1867, was transplanted to the Senate, where the legislative patriarchs were again united, and where he has served continuously ever since, having been redlected in 1872, 1878, 1854 and 1890. Mr. Morrill has thus to his credit twelve years in the House and twenty-six in the Senate, while he has yet remaining of his present term four years.

Mr. Sherman has thus received from

A VILE BRUTE

Attempted Outrage on the Person of a Early yesterday morning, as Frederick Schaeffer was at work in the rear of his restaurant on Upper Main street, a friend of his came excitedly in and told him that there was a man in the act of committing an assault on his lit-tle daughter, who had been playing in the daughter, who had been playing in the back yard. Schaeffer needed no second hint, and rushed out just in time to see a burly individual holding the girl in his arms, and at the same time attempting to remove her clothes, preparatory to attempting to outrage the child's person. With one heavy blow Schaeffer sent the brute flying to the ground, and, reaching for the little girl, placed her in a position of safety. He then returned to complete, his yenground, and, reaching for the little girl, placed her in a position of safety. He then returned to complete his vengance on the man, who at once got his feet under him and started to run. He was soon overtaken by the infuriated father, however, and before by standers could interfere, the latter seized a piece of garden hose and belabored the fellow until he begged piteously for mercy. The police by this time had reached the scene, and the fiend was placed under arrest and taken to the station. He gave the name of to the station. He gave the name of Michael Pendergrast, and claimed to

A Special Meeting of the Board Yesterday Morning.

One Saloon License Revoked-A Strop Resolution Defining the Position of a Majority of the Board on the Sunday Law.

A special meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners was held yester-day morning pursuant to a call of its members and the full board was present. The following communications were

The following communications were read:

To the Board of Police Commissioners of Los Angeles, Cal.: We hereby protest against the granting of the license for a saloon to be opened on North Main street in the New United States Hotel block. In the block between Requena and First streets there are already seven saloons and several so-called restaurants where liquors are sold. For that reason we think an ample opportunity is afforded those who require such liquors to gratify their wishes without being incommoded. The class of saloons already upon the street is of the worst and we do not think the one to be opened would be any better. The request for the change was made without the knowledge of any of those doing business in the immediate vicinity and for that reason we send in this protest and respectfully ask that the matter shall be reconsidered. To the Honovable Board of Police Commissioners of Los Angeles, Cal.: We, the under signed, property owners on Main street be tween First and Requena streets, would re spectfully protest against the transfer of license of the saloon now located on the east side of Main street, near First street east side of Main street, near First street, to any other point in the same block:

James C. Kays, 40 feet; C. F. Harper, 41 feet; F. C. Howes, 20 feet; Moses Avery, 42% feet; German-American Savings Bank, 45 feet; estate of L. Lichtenberger, 113 feet; Victor Ponet, 34 feet; P. Castruccio, 33 feet; K. Kohn & Co., 275 feet; E. Macdonald, 185 feet; Isalas W. Hellman, 152 feet.

Commissioner Bosbyshell moved that, in consideration of the above protests and the fact that the board was unad-vised of any objection to the granting of such transfer of the license of saloon of Emil Waldeck from No. 106 Main street to No. 158 Main street, the per-mit granted April 19, 1893, be revoked and that the permit be issued for saloon to Emil Waldeck at No. 106 North Main street, as formerly, which motion was unanimously carried. Commissioner Bosbyshell then moved commission of the city of Los Angeles to revoke the license granted by them to any and all parties who may be hereafter convicted the second time of violating any of the city ordinances, and further it shall be the duty of the Chief of Police to notify the Police Commis sion of all such convictions. Adopted by the following vote: Yeas. Bradish, Boslyshell and Tufts. Nays, Meldon and the Mayor. Mayor Rowan said he voted no on the ground, first, that it prescribes and limits the powers of the board and second that it compels the board to revoke a license even in a case where there are such extenuating circum-stances that it should not do so.

The board then adjourned. It will be remembered that at the last meeting of the board, held last Monday, the application of Emil Waldeck was received asking for a transfer of license from 106 North Main to 158 North Main street and, there being no apparent reason for refusal, the request was granted under suspension of rules.

THE SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors held a short session yesterday, all the members being present.

Twelve property-owners of the Sierra Madre Road District petitioned that the board order discontinued and aban-doned all that portion of Ramona avenue, commencing at a point on the south side of said avenue and 168 feet west from the southwest corner of the intersection of Ramona avenue and Prospect street; thence west 300 feet: Prospect street; thence west SUO feet; thence north sixty feet; thence east 300 feet, and south sixty feet to the place of beginning. On motion of Supervisoro Hay the petition was granted.

W. A. White, manager of the labor bureau, was granted a leave of absence of one week.

In the matter of roads in the Sierra Madre District, it was also ordered that Marguerita avenue, from the southwest corner of the intersection of the south line of that avenue with the west line of Prospect street, be abandoned.

The petition of W. H. Brougham for a saion license at Duarte was granted.

In the same connection it was ordered that further hearing on a similar application of Mrs. Kuhrey of Glendora be denied.

Today the board will take action on the granting of a franchise for the building of an electric street railway between this city and Pasadena.

Another Day of the Hyland Divorce Trial.

Strong Evidence Brought Out Against the Woman.

A Complaint Filed in a Very Peculiar Damage Suit.

Ten Thousand Dollars Wanted for the Children of a Man Who Died of Glanders—A Sult for Wages—

General Court Notes

The divorce case of Hyland vs. Hyland attracted a large crowd of onlookers yesterday in Department Four, when the trial on the cross-complaint was resumed by the introduction of evidence tending to prove that criminal relations had existed between Mrs. Hyland and the man Enoch Griffin. Felix McLaughlin and others testified that they had known the Hyland family, and that because of the latter's actions and reputation, they had refused to rent them rooms or houses. Mrs. Grifhave been drunk when he committed the assault. He will probably be ex-amined today on the charge. fin, the wife of Enoch, stated that she was acquainted with the Hylands, and she readily identified the writing in the letters, filed as exhibits, as being that of her husband. These letters, by the way, were written by Griffin to Mrs. Hyland while he (Griffin) was in Fresno. They were all offered in evidence by G. Wiley Wells, Esq., attorney for Mr. Hyland, together with their contents. The substance of the missives was read to the court, as each was filed, and proved to be very questionable language for one man to write to another's wife. At 4:30 o'clock the prosecution con-cluded its evidence and the defense commenced its case. Enoch Griffin first took the stand. He had known Mrs. Hyland some years, and had called at the Hyland home quite a number of times. He had also taken Mrs. Hyland did go to Fresno and gambled there. By trade he was a horse-trainer. The witness was being cross-exam-ined when the hour for adjournment ar-

A complaint was filed yesterday by Petrea Peterson, guardian of the minors of Clara and Minnie Peterson, on an action against Christian Jansen for an action against Caristian Jansen for the recovery of damages in the sum of $10,000. The ground on which the complaint is based is somewhat hovel. The plaintiff alleges that on January 12 of this year W. J. Peterson died; that some months prior to his death he pur-chased from the defendant a horse which was afflicted with the disease of which was afflicted with the disease of glanders, not knowing that the horse was so afflicted. Further, that when detendant sold Peterson the horse he was aware that the animal was diseased and that he carelessly and unlaw-fully concealed from the purchaser the fact. In grooming the horse afterward Peterson became infected with the Peterson became infected with the same disease and finally died from its effects. Therefore the plaintiff asked that he be awarded damages of $10,000 with which to provide for the minor children of the deceased, who had been entirely dependent upon their father for support.

father for support. Margaret and Henry Pellissier, two thrifty foreigners, were plaintiffs in a suit begun before Judge Shaw yesterday, for the purpose of compelling an elderly woman named Marie de Berggren to pay for services rendered by the plaintiff. Margaret. The latter claimed that for a period of many months she had been employed as a servant girl by Mrs. Berggren. and that the latter had failed to pay her for such work to its full value. She estimated that a reasonable compensation would that a reasonable compensation would be about $987.50, and prayed for judgment accordingly, with reductions of the small amounts she had been paid by the defendant from time to time

Court Notes. In the matter of the estate of B. B. ton, deceased, Judge Clar day entered an order granting the administrator permission to compromise a claim against the estate. James Newton Glenn, a sufferer from epilepsy, was yesterday adjudged in-sane by Drs. Almsworth and MacGowan, and sentenced to confinement in the Stockton pasane Asylum by Judge Clark. Yesterday in Judge Van Dyke's Court the defendant's motion for leave to file an amended answer in the case of Mar-tin vs. Smith, a suit to compel payment on a note for $589.50, coming up, the Court-held that he had no discretion in court need that he had no discretion in the matter and that the defendant has absolute right to amend, and ordered that the same be filed. An exception thereto was entered by the plaintiff, when the case was continued until May 29.

a valuable camel, working in an old mill in Africa, was severely beaten by its driver, who, perceiving that the camel had treasured up the injury, and camel had treasured up the injury, and was only waiting a favorable opportunity for revenge, kept a strict watch upon the animal. Time passed away, the camel, perceiving that it was watched, was quiet and chedient, and the driver began to this that the beating was forgotten.

One night, after the lapse of several months, the man, who slept on a raised platform in the mill, while, as, is customary, the camel was stalled in the corner, happening to remain awake, observed by the bright, monlight that when all was quiet the animal, looked cautiously around, rose softly, and, stealing over toward a spot where a bundle of clothes and a bernous thrown carelessly on the ground, resembled a sleeping figure, cast itself with violence upon them, rolling with all its weight upon them, rolling with all its weight and tearing them most viciously with Satisfied that its revenge was com-plete, the camel was returning to its corner, when the driver sat up and spoke. At the sound of his wolce, and perceiving the mistake it had made, the animal was so mortified at the failure and discovery of his scheme that it dashed its head against the wall and died on the spot.

of the American Civil War, in which all slaves were declared free; yet it seems that something suspiciously akin to old-fashioned slavery is still permitted by law in certain parts of the United States. In Missouri, for example, they have a vagrancy act which enables the State to lay hands upon the person of any incorrigibly idle "nigger" and put him or his services up to auction to the highest bidder. What happens when there are no bids is left a moot point, and it is to be presumed that the State would then "buy in" the article for which there was no demand. A Fayette, in Missouri, a negro is reported as having been "knocked down" to Fayette, in Missohri, a negro is reported as having been "knocked down" to a Mr. Campbell at the ridiculously cheap rate of $20, or about £5, for a period of six months. That is to say, that Mr. Campbell will, under the delightful statute on vagrancy, which prevails in that State, be able to order his negro to do whatever labor he chooses to set him during a half year, and to pay him less than 5 shillings a week; and for that time the unhappy African will practically be in the position of bondage which all negroes occupied before the war. How any State law of this kind is compatible with the general principle of American jurisprudence, which establishes the freedom of all citizens, we must leave to Mr. Bryce all citizens, we must leave to Mr. Bryce and other expounders of the Federal Constitution to determine; certainly the transaction in question looks very much like the reëstablishment of much like the reestablishment of slavery on a small scale by a side wind. Of course, it may be urged that we in England make temporary slaves of the persons who are imprisoned for non-liquidation of a debt ordered by a court to be paid; but then col-lective society with us does not board out its offenders at the houses of private taskmasters, nor does it make money over the afair. To whom does the purchase price of the Missourian negro go, supposing that there is any purchase money? If to the State itself it might be useful in diminishing rates, and there is something to be urged even among ourselves, for a system which would turn all vagrants into la-borers, and at the same time save the pockets of the ratepayers. In England the State boards and lodges its helpless idlers, although it draws the line at paying them; in Missouri it gets a pri-vate citizen to take upon himself the expense of the idler's keep. Practi-cally, this regulation amounts to a State prohibition of idleness; and the wages are low, because it is not supposed that a compulsory worker will exert himself very much, so as to render his work really valuable. Does the Missourian precedent show us the way in which an honest day's work might be extracted from our own "sturdy beggars?"

United States has more than doubled during the past year, although there has been no increase in the number of factories. The total production of the six factories was 27,083,822 pounds against a total of 12,004,838 pounds last year. Experiments in growing sugar beets have been tried in a number of Western States, and the success has been so great that the number of factories will be increased.

Spring Wall Papers and Their Various Styles.

ive Beauty Their Only Fault-Where Dados and Friezes May Be Used-The Cheaper Papers-"Backgrounds."

cially Contributed to The Times.

There are "spring fashions" in wall paper, as in gowns, and it is absolutely ue that the fundamental laws that un derly all good decoration are ever the same. It is well to study a little the latest designs and styles of hanging the papers before making a selection, be the paper for what room it may.

There have been, within a few years past, so many improvements in the manufacture of furnishing materials of all sorts, and also in the color effects in all branches of decorative art, that we have good reason to hope that the "new" will always be good. In fact there has been also such a general development of ar-tistic feeling, and such a spread of something that is at least akin to a knowledge of correct art principles, that we have every right to expect better things than heretofore; to feel that in the 'latest designs' we shall find, not novelty only, but that union of color and form that makes a perfect whole. So now, when the dealers are ready with their spring and summer supply with their spring and summer supply, a woman may find it to her advantage to study their newest productions a bit be-fore determining just what changes to make in the old home, or what arrangements to plan for the new.

THE STRIKING FACTS. Among all the beautiful papers and the costly fabrics there are some few facts that are apparent before all else. Green in all its lines, from the tenderest shade known to opening buds to the richest, deepest olive, will be the vogue.

Gilt is little used except in ceilings.

Dados are no longer considered "the thing" for bedrooms, drawing-rooms thing" for bedrooms, drawing-rooms or sitting-rooms.

The heavy or deep frieze has disappeared from walls that are hung with either tapestry or gobelin papers.

With all the lovely fresh papers designed for bedroom or boudoir, are gold cretonnes, or silkolines, for draperies, woven in harmonizing colors and designs.

WHERE DADOS ARE USED.

For libraries, dining-rooms and halls are shown dados that are simply splendid in effect, and for the walls above the parlor, if a simple effect be sought, light-toned paper is used, with a deep, harmonizing frieze; or a flat fruits and flowers, with an occasional hunting scene or rural group.

Still another hanging, designed for luxurious drawing-rooms and ballrooms, is real satin damask that assauges from $6 to $8 a strip. This is real silk pasted on a paper backing. The design is usually stamped in relief and follows pretty closely the Louis XV idea. The grounds are light blue or cream. It is stretched on frames or else tacked to the walls. It is about twenty-two inches wide.

STYLES OF USING. The heavy papers and the stnffs are used with only a picture moulding or picture rail as a finish, and have no frieze; but the delightful papers made expressly for the summer ho sleeping-room, and for the dainty bou-dour, are all shown with a deep frieze

The library or the dining-room ceiling is supposed to be edged with a cone at least, and to have such decoration as separates it from the wall, so that the simple picture rail is all that is required. If there is no such cornice to cone, a band of plain flat color is used for several inches below the ceiling, the picture rail coming between it and the body of the wall.

For the bedroom, when the ceiling is expected to be decorated with paper made to match that of the wall, a deep frieze accompanies every design; but

Both linerusta-walton and a heavy three-ply raised paper are excellent as dados; they are made in patterns espe-cially suited to that use. * The lincrusta-walton is pasted to the walls with a composition of raw linseed oil, plaster of paris, glue and water. The paste is always applied hot. Full directions accompanying each roll. One of the chief merits of this paper-ing is that it can be cleaned with soap and water or turpentine; it will stand this treatment as well as woodwork does, as it is composed of wood pulp.

Stamped leather, too, is much in vogue, where the cost is not too great, and metallized relief is to be found in a multitude of tones and designs

There are two kinds; one is a kind of coarse canvas of a brownish tone, stamped all over with a floral design; this kind sells for 25 cents a yard. The other is a paper grained and tinted to this kind sells for 25 cents a yard. The other is a paper grained and tinted to imitate the burlap, with a printed design; this is sold at $1 a roll.

Another hanging, somewhat less costly, is known as "papier gobelin," and sells for $2 of $2.50 a roll. It is an imitation in paper of the famous tapestries made by the famous Gobelin Bros. in France in 1450. These papers are in "low tones." The design is in-there are hangings of genuine artistic ground of medium tone with a simple diaper design and an elaborate and brilliant frieze. But no dado, unless the room be "white and gold;" then, as I have before said, heavy stamped pa-per, or the old ivory, is used with really striking effect.

THE CHEAPER PAPERS. Among the cheaper papers thoroughly excellent things abound. Satin stripes with scattered flower effects are exhibited; also vines that run here and there; also simple, lovely designs, and with them all you are shown cretonnes to match.

I will describe one paper that is both typica, and beautiful in itself. It has a ground of creamy white in alternating stripes of satin and "dull finish;" over this ground are strewn apple blossoms in all their tender pink. A deep frieze of the same colors and the same designs serve as a finish. A ceilifup paper, somewhat lighter, carries out the general plan. With curtains of the cretonne that is made to match this paper, and with either enamel or bamboo per, and with either enamel or bamboo furniture and light rugs, or carpets, a room so treated would indeed become a bower and itself would make one levely picture in the house.

WALL PAPER CONSIDERED AS "BACK-GROUND."

In fact, if there be any fault to find with the wall hangings of the day, it is that of excessive beauty.

that of excessive beauty.

In their very perfection the papers fail to make good "backgrounds" and become decorative features themselves in place of remaining the foils of pictures, etc., that walls should be.

However, in summer bouses, where freshness and daintiness are sought, and when pictures are little used, they afford a charming effect. In bedrooms, where purity and sweetness should be where purity and sweetness should be considered before all else, they are not only good, but admirable. But wherever a background for other decorations is needed, something less lovely in itself will be found to do far better service. Libraries that are "book rooms" are well suited to this the tone and character are suited. They are especially designed for "empire rooms," and are in fact the only dados considered admissible in any rooms of a light and airy character, such as parlors or reception rooms; then they are used in conjunction with the still popular "white and gold."

PRINTED BURLAPS, PAPIER GOBELIN AND SATIN DAMASK.

The dealers seem to have the wisdom to supply "artistic effects" in all grades and for all prices. One of the really new things for "papering" the library or the dining-room is printed burlaps. There are two kinds; one is a kind of

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

A Tournament of Roses.

Southern California might well claim to be the land of flowers, as during all the months that are winter months in the east a brilliant display of flowers can be made at Pasadena. The "tournament of roses" is given every year. It might be called a floral thanksgiving, as the idea which suggested the festival was the coming of the winter flowers and the ripening of the oranges. It is essentially a children's day, and the young folks are encouraged to take part in it. For weeks beforehand the tournament is talked of, and the fortunate owners of pony carriages and carts are vying with one another in the elaboration of de-

with one another in the elaboration of designs to compete for the prizes offered to the vehicles showing the most beautiful and artistic floral decoration. Prizes are given also for the various races of ponies, horses and burrors, one prize being for the last burro to arrive in a slow race.

Finally the day—the first of the new year—arrives. Early in the morning the procession forms. The boys and girls on horseback, their steeds garlanded with flowers, join the master of ceremonies. The band plays gayly, and they wend their way to the park, where the tournament is to be held. The grand stand is already packed with men, women and children, and in front is a heaping pile of oranges and flowers free to all.—St. Nicholas. heaping pile of oranges and flowers free to all.—St. Nicholas.

What a Boy Did With His Camera. So many boys and girls take pictures nowadays that plain, everyday photogra-phy is not as interesting as it was when pocket cameras first became known. Yet phy is not as interesting as it was when pocket cameras first became known. Yet to take a photograph well is a real accomplishment, and for those who have acquired it many very nice gifts are within easy reach. Here is something which a New York boy did for Christmas, and which all amateur photographers may repeat for birthday presents.

This very enterprising young photographer procured a quantity of what is known as "sensitivized" or "sensitized" linen, and upon this linen he took pictures of all the pretty pieces of furniture and cozy corners in his home. When the pictures were all nicely photographed upon the linen, and you may be sure it was no quick or easy task, the amateur photographer enlisted his sister in the work and persuaded her to stitch the pictures upon tiny napkins and doilies for his mother's table. There were 10 of the pictures, and when the work was done it was, as the boy's mamma said, "too pretty for anything."

"too pretty for anything."
But the funny part of it all was this.
The doilies were far too fine for table use, so the boy's mamma said, and instead of putting them under the finger bowls or the glasses she has spread them upon a little table in the parlor. And there they are -New York Ledger.

Schoolboys Who Never Play.

Schoolboys Who Never Play.

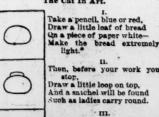

Broadly speaking, German schoolboys never play. They have no time to do so. They attend day schools forlorn of play-grounds and are so desperately overweighted with lessons that all their spare energy and vitality is used up in the endeavor to get through the work diurnally allotted to them. They really have no opportunity from the commencement of the school term to its close for running or jumping, playing at ball or marbles, paper chases, or any of the other amusements to which English schoolboys, as a rule, devote themselves with an eager assiduity seldom displayed in the dry and thorny pursuit of knowledge.

When a German boy exhibits symptoms When a German boy exhibits symptoms of exhaustion and debility, caused by over work, his parents enter him at a gymnastic institution and compel him to attend one or two evening ourses of "scientific calis or two evening Jourses of "scientific calis-thenics," very possibly at the expense of his position in his class at school. "Turnerei," however, is not presented to him in the light of play, but downright hard physical work, which tany be productive of develop-ment to his muscle and benefit to his general health without affording him any keen sense of recreation.—London Society.

A Simple Experiment.

A neat little experiment in electricity is to soak half a sheet of stout footscap paper in water, drying it rapidly before a fire, spreading it while warm on a varnished table or dry woolen cloth and then rubbing the surface sharply with a Piece of India rubber. The paper becomes so electrified rubber. The paper becomes so electrified that it will stick to a smooth wall or look ing glass, or attract bits of tissue paper like a magnet, and on being laid upon a japanned teatray which is stood upon three thor-oughly dry goblets, will cause the tray to give out sparks at a touch of the finger. A Sweet Comparison.

Little Harriet went the other day with mamma to see Nurse Charlotte's black baby. When they arrived, the fat little pickaninny was in his bath, and only his woolly head and little fat shoulders were visible above the white suds. The contrast was startling and seemed to strike Harriet so, for when she came home and we asked what she thought of the baby she said, with a doubtful look, "He looked like a 'Ittle' chocolate drop wif the cream on the outside." When Nurse Charlotte heard it, no one laughed more than she.—New York Advertiser.

Names of Japanese Girls.

Many of those pretty and suggestive little words that serve as names for Japanese girls are as charming in English as in Jap anese, for it is not uncommon for a Jap girl to bear the name of a flower. On the other hand, however, many girls in Japan bear the name of some homely domestic utensil, as frying pan or dustbrush. Doubt less this results from the custom common among some people of naming a child for the first object that strikes the father's eye after the little one has come into the world

A Good Way to Clean Glasses.

"It's the greatest idea in the world," said William H. Pascoe as he stood at the dock in the Southern hotel 'resterday rubbing his glasses with a 850 bill. "Now, I can't see 10 feet without my glasses, and glasses have a tendency to become blurred, you know. Now, I have worn spectacles constantly for ever 25 years, and I have in a small way made a study of them. A linen handkerchief does not clean them well, and silk is always sure to leave a thread sticking to the frames. Paper is of no account, as it leaves specks on the glass. Cotton is sure to leave a lot of lint behind it. Chamois is too thick, and kid don't do at all. I've tried them all, and I know. The thing to use, my boy, is a bank note. It cleans the glasses beautifully and leaves nothing behind it. A Good Way to Clean Glasses

OPERA BY PHONOGRAPH.

Music Sung in Detroit Reproduced in Los Angeles.

The Librattist the Electrician of the Electric Railroad of This City, L. B. Pemberton-Some Very

There is a new opera in town-at least a part of one-and through the medium of a phonograph a small company of choice spirits were enabled to hear a few of the soles and choruses at the music rooms of Bartlett Bros. vesterday morning.

There is a feeling of local pride in the new creation, for the librettist is the modest and unassuming electrician of the Consolidated Electric Railway Company in this city, L. B. Pemberton, and there is a strong likelihood that the Bostonians will soon be producing Mardi Gras, the opera he has written with rich, a young composer of Detroit.

It is a singular fact that the two gentlemen who are about to give the world a new musical comedy have never met. but were brought together through the joint intervention of a mutual friend and the postoffice department. As might be surmised from its title, the scene of the Mardi Gras is laid in New Orleans, although a century prior to the present time. The action concerns itself with a visit of Rex to earth, and the atmosphere, of course, is that of revolutionary days. It is somewhat mystical and pleasantly frolicsome; at the same time the authors make point of the fact that it is not a conventiona comic opera, but more of an opera comique. The music is quite preten-tious, and there will be an effort of real merit father than the furnishing of omentary entertainment. It was the idtention to have the phoit was the idtention to mave the promographic cylinders reach here from here Bestonians left town, but they were unfortunately de-layed en route, hence Messrs. Barnabee, Karl and MacDonald will not hear the music until they reach Detroit on their way eastward. The cylinders sent over to the librettist in order to give him an idea of the composer's ability, com-prise the opening chorus, which is tuneful and pleasing, a waltz song (both of these are reproductions of the com-poser's own performance on the pipe organ,) a bass solo and also a solo fo

The latter was sung into the phonograph in Detroit by Miss May Donnelly of that city, and even the tryingness of that "taiking machine" is unable to

The words of this solo are: If some unfeeling, cruel fate.
Us, unforseen, should separate,
And you afar be forced to roam;
Though other friends you there may find,
Oh. promise me you'll bear in mind
The happy days we here have known.

My heart for thee Shall ever yearn. Oh! promise me You will return:

While in some distant place you dwell, To love new friendships may impel, And thrill your heart as ne'er before; Somewhere, perchance, your eye may meet Some form more fair, some face more sweet,

But never one who'll love thee more.
My heart for thee
Shall ever yearn.
Oh. promise me
You will return!

One of the taking things of the piece, owever, will undoubtedly be the sof the "Governor" which Mr. Slade Detroit, a basso profundo, sung for the auditors with a voice of fine timbre more than two thousand miles away. The following are the words: I am "the great I am." I am A very severe, austere sort of a man.

My department's submits I have great magnanimity department's sublimity In fact an assortment of qualities rare. I have much of the suavity. And all of the gravity

That goes to make up an aristocratical air.

As to things pragmatical

And ways diplomatical ou will always find me there:

I am quite indispensable, Of this fact I am sensible, world could not very well my services There is a light cast from on high

That clothes the elect with authority;
And there's nothing derogative—
In the King's prerogative—
To appearing quite large in his ow eye; For mind you he is a king-A superior sort of a thing—

To whose feet, with their lives, base plebecians should fly.

This light is his right divine; And though I'm not exactly "in line"—
Still a very remarkable person am I.
Of the King's divine right
Behold the reflected light;
For I am the royal Deputy!

The plot of the opera is somewhat complicated, and will not be dwelt upon here, but of the music it may be said that if the composer's efforts are sustained throughout in keeping with the box of "samples" put on tap in Mr. Edison's machine yesterday, the new venture will be a go.

In this connection it should be stated as a historical fact that this is the first time an operatic composer has ever boxed up his composition in any other form than on a written score and sent it out to be judged through the medium of a piece of mechanism. But the

They Failed to Agree.

The jury in the Simpson adultery case received their charge late yesterday afternoon, after a lengthy argument been offered by counsel on both sides. They remained out for more than two hours, and finally notified the Court that they failed to agree, six being for conviction and six for acquittal. They were therefore discharged.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES LOS ANGELES, April 20, 1893. In the local produce market potatoes con-tinue firm. The late wind storm did con-siderable damage to the new crop, in many places covering the vines with sand. Eggs are in good demand at 19@20, and butter is weak at 32½@35 for fancy creamery. A Chicago special dispatch of April 18

"California dried fruits-There has been but a dull trade all the week. Distributors reports maller orders from the country. The presumption is that country merchants have become pretty well supplied, there having been a good demand from this source for some time. The holders of fruit are not pressing sales. There has been a decline in prices recently and they claim there is no good reason for a further reduction, hence they adhere to late prices. The current range is as follows: Raisins, London layers, 3-crown, per box, 1.406, 1.60; fancy, 1.75@1.85; loose Muscatels, 3-crown, according to quality, 1.25@1.35; 4-crown, 4½; seedless, according to condition and quality, 4½@5. Prunes, 40 to 50 to the pound, in sacks, per pound, 12½@12½; 50 to 60, 11½; 60 to 70, 11; 70 to 80, 10½; 80 to 90, 10; 90 to 100, 9½; 100 to 120, 9. Apricots, new, choice to fancy, in sacks, per pound, 16@17; fair to good, 16@16½, Peaches, peeled, 25-pound boxes, per pound, 12@24; sacks, 21@22; unpeeled, 11@12. Nectarines, red, in sacks, per pound, 11@12; white, 12@13. "Oranges—California seedlings are ruling easy; they are quite plentiful and the condition of many of them is common; in consequence of the latter fact holders are rather anxious to sell, while buyers are backward. Navels are quoted steady, with a fair demand. California oanges, sound seedlings, per box, 128 to 216 to the box, 1.50@1.60; 250 to 300, 1.50@1.60; Riverside seedlings, 128 to 216, 2.25; 250 to 300, 1.50@1.90; unsound, 1.25; navels, 96 to 112, 2.25@2.60; 128 to 200, 2.75@3.00; fancy to extra, 3.00@3,50."
